Avalanche, Floods Hit West Europe

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The worst floods since World War II inundated the historic cities of Florence and Venice Friday in a general storm that lashed all Western Europe. Authorities reported Venice had the highest flood level in 966 years.

Floodwaters claimed 27 lives in Italy and cut the country virtually in half.

Two persons died in an avalanche in Switzerland.

DOZENS MISSING

In the hardest hit European areas dozens were missing and feared dead, and hundreds were reported injured.

In both the canal city of Venice and Florence, inhabitants fled to the upper floors of homes and palaces.

Florence, the famous Renaissance art capital with 450,000 residents on the Arno River, was cut off from the outside world as roads were blocked and normal communications failed. Rescue teams from Bologna and Rome could not reach the city.

Along the Venice canals the worst tides of the postwar period covered the city with more than three feet of water, making Venetian streets impassable, breaking sewers and water lines. Venice has 175,000 inhabitants.

Florence authorities feared for the safety of many major art works, but they said the architectural masterpieces and open-air statues such as Benvenuto Cellini's bronze David in the Piazza della Signoria could survive any flood.

The entire first floor of the Uffizi Gallery was inundated. Water poured into the convent of St. Mark, endangering the famous Fra Angelico frescoes. Water also poured into the Florence cathedral.

Five Arrests On Gambling In Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Five arrests were made Friday in a crackdown on football game gambling in the New Orleans area.

Vice squad officers and agents of the Internal Revenue Service moved in after a two-month investigation. More arrests were expected, said Lt. Frederick Soule Sr., vice squad commander.

The agencies estimated that approximately 150,000 football cards are printed and distributed weekly in south Louisiana with the minimum bet of $1.

David Lawrence Suffers Attack

PITTSBURGH Pa. (AP) — David L. Lawrence, former governor of Pennsylvania, and kingpin of state and national politics collapsed at a Democratic party rally Friday night after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Lawrence, 77, was rushed to Presbyterian University Hospital where he was listed in "very critical" condition.

Dr. Campbell Moses said the former governor and onetime Pittsburgh mayor appeared to be on the verge of death when he first arrived at the hospital, but his breathing and pulse had improved. Lawrence, however, was still critical, the doctor said.

On Leave

Boiler tender third class Ronald Strickland, grandson of Mrs. John Morris of 197 Michael St., Monroe, is presently home on a 23-day leave from the U.S. Navy.

He will return, upon expiration of his leave time, to the USS Orleck, a Naval destroyer ported at Long Beach, Calif. He enlisted in the Navy in November, 1964.

Effective Poster

The long arm of the law has been exceedingly limber in Monroe during the past few weeks, and to noticeable effect.

Actually, Sheriff Bailey Grant has not been forced to do one-arm calisthenics. A picture of his badge has been a sufficient deterrent.

The picture, underscored with pertinent facts about the penalty for passing bad checks, is currently on display alongside cash registers in Monroe stores. A checker at a local grocery store said Friday that the poster has been effective.

Renewal Time

Mrs. Thelma Heckford cares for children at a nursery and is celebrating her birthday. Mrs. Heckford let it slip that her birthday was near when she remarked she had to get her driver's license renewed.

Long Weekend

Off Friday for a long weekend with relatives are Mr. and Mrs. Mike Treno, 1217 N. 2nd St., West Monroe. They will visit her parents in Winnsboro.

Sex Sadist Stabs Girl 96 Times

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A sexually motivated sadist was sought Friday as the killer of Diana June Olkowitz, 19, whose body, pierced by 96 knife wounds, was found in the industrial plant where she worked as a secretary. She was the third girl found stabbed to death in the area during the past six weeks.

The young woman was lying face down in blood on the concrete floor of the shipping room of a factory in suburban Menomonee Falls when her brother, a girl friend and a plant foreman found the body late Friday afternoon. There were strands of hair in her clenched fists, as if she had torn it from the head of her attacker, police said.

Her skirt was pulled up but her underclothing was not disarranged and an autopsy determined that she had not been raped. But authorities discounted robbery or burglary as a motive for the brutal slaying.

BENT ON KILLING

"The intruder was bent on killing somebody," said Menomonee Falls Police Chief Carl Kuhn, adding that the attack was "plainly that of a sexually motivated killer."

A search of the area yielded three wine bottles with what appeared to be bloody fingerprints and authorities said they found tire marks indicating a car might have been driven rapidly out of the factory parking lot. But the police chief said no such car had been seen. The bottles were to be sent to the FBI crime laboratory for examination.

Police revealed that an employee of another firm in the area had seen a man running across fields from the plant about an hour before Miss Olkowitz' body was found.

Chief Kuhn said there were similarities in the Olkowitz slaying and that of Miss Sherry Thompson, 18, whose half-nude body was found Oct. 17 behind St. Rose of Lima Catholic Church in Milwaukee. She had been stabbed 22 times.

An unsolved knife murder in the Milwaukee area was that of 10-year-old Julia Beck with. She was found Sept. 4 in a weed-covered lot only five blocks from the scene of the Thompson killing. Authorities said she had been sexually molested but not raped.

Milwaukee County Medical Examiner Helen Young, who performed an autopsy, said she felt that Miss Olkowitz and Miss Thompson were killed by the same man. There was a definite similarity in the knife wounds, she said.

Rep. Powell Gets Thirty-Day Term

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell was ordered Friday to serve 30 days in jail for criminal contempt of court, but his arrest will not come at least until after the election next Tuesday.

Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy found the Harlem Democrat guilty of two counts of criminal contempt and ordered him to pay a $250 fine on each count and to serve 30 days in jail on each count. The jail terms would run concurrently.

Levy directed, however, that the arrest order not be issued until after the election. Powell is expected to be an easy victor over three opponents.

"However, this lengthy method of evaluation and conclusion must be faulty, because one of our board members has a technique by which he can judge material without even seeing it. We can only marvel at his ability and dream about the hours that could be saved each year if we only had such wisdom."

"Our methods of teaching are always open for examination."

Mostly Cloudy Skies Forecast

The forecast for the Twin Cities calls for mostly cloudy skies and scattered showers. The temperatures will be a bit cooler today with the high going from 64 to 70 and the low falling between 38 and 44.

The winds will be out of a northerly direction 10 to 20 mph. The outlook for Sunday calls for partly cloudy skies and cool temperatures. There will be a 40 per cent probability of rain today.

Friday was a pleasant day with the mercury rising to a pleasant 68 around 2 p.m. The low for Friday was 31 which occurred early that morning about 4 a.m. There was no rainfall recorded. The high a year ago was 63 and the low was 50.

Second Aircraft Carrier Catches Fire Off Viet Nam Killing 8, Injuring 14 Men

U.S. AIRCRAFT CARRIER Franklin D. Roosevelt catches fire which kills eight men, Navy announced Friday. The ship was stationed off coast of Viet Nam. A Navy spokesman said 14 men were injured in the blaze. He said cause of the fire, the second on a 7th Fleet carrier in Vietnamese waters in 10 days, was unknown. (AP Wirephoto)

All Faculty Members Defend Local Teacher

The principal and faculty of West Monroe Junior High School Friday issued a statement supporting Mrs. Jean Furr, a teacher at the school. Mrs. Furr came under fire at two meetings of the Ouachita Parish School Board from a group who alleged that she used communist-influenced teaching supplements.

The statement said Mrs. Furr ranked "among the highest" as a teacher and called on "those who believe otherwise (either) stop the attack on one teacher, or condemn us all."

The statement, signed by the 85 persons, in full:

We, the faculty of West Monroe Junior High School, feel an obligation to a fellow teacher, and to the people of our area, to make a response to the recent charges made at two previous Ouachita Parish School Board meetings.

"There are many wonderful and dedicated Christian people in the Twin Cities and the Ark-La-Miss area. Many have come to know and respect, and many we have had in our classroom. If, by some way we could grade the true Christians of our area or any area in the world, we know Mrs. Jean Furr would rank among the highest. If, by some way we could be graded on teaching performance, subject matter taught, understanding and love for students and people in general, we know Mrs. Jean Furr would rank among the highest."

"A teacher's job is to direct, not to dictate. We have tried to teach our students to seek information from as many sources as possible, then under the teacher's guidance, come to the correct conclusions. Mrs. Jean Furr's religious convictions and patriotic principles could inspire only the highest American ideals."

"However, this lengthy method of evaluation and conclusion must be faulty, because one of our board members has a technique by which he can judge material without even seeing it. We can only marvel at his ability and dream about the hours that could be saved each year if we only had such wisdom."

"Our methods of teaching are always open for examination."

"We have always welcomed parents into our classrooms. It might be hoped that any question concerning classes could be solved by the parents, teacher and principal. However, an attack on our methods and materials by persons who have not observed them is deplorable."

The state supervisor of social studies stated that as far as he knew, West Monroe Junior High School was the only junior high in the state of Louisiana which offered a specific course in Americanism vs. Communism last year. This course is required by state law in all high schools.

In an effort to keep our courses, we would appreciate any information on the new name of the United States. We still teach our students the goals and ideals of the United States of America.

To those who believe otherwise, stop the attack on one teacher, or condemn us all."

Vote Advice Slated By World

A condensation used in the analysis of the amendments will be carried on page one.

To be condensed in the analysis is information from lawyers and others versed in Louisiana constitutional law, the Public Affairs Research Council, the Council for a Better Louisiana and others.

Injured Farmer Crawls Home Through Snow

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — For James Coots, this will always be the November of his ordeal in the snow.

A storm that swirled through southern Indiana trapped Coots beneath a tractor on his tobacco farm near Madison.

He crawled through the drifts for nearly five hours, half-carrying his right leg, where the knee had been crushed beneath the tractor.

Resting in a Louisville hospital Friday he explained how it all happened.

His pickup truck was caught in the snow when he went to the barn to check his tobacco. When he tried to pull it free with a tractor, the machine toppled onto him.

"I kept scootin' my leg backward and forward to get it loose. Then I began scootin' along, resting my hurt leg on my good leg."

"It was rough going." As he inched along, the blinding snow blew all around him, making it difficult to see and

U.S. Troops Lock Horns With Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Eight American enlisted men were killed Friday night and 14 were injured in a flash fire aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt. It was the second fatal fire in the past 10 days aboard a U.S. 7th fleet carrier off North Viet Nam.

Elsewhere on the war front, reinforced U.S. troops, backed by close air strikes and artillery bombardment, locked in heavy fighting Friday night with Viet Cong forces entrenched in heavily fortified bunkers after having beaten off two Communist assaults during the day near the Cambodian border.

BORDER BATTLE

Elements of the U. S. 1st Infantry Division were rushed to a dense jungle area near the Cambodian border where American and South Vietnamese troops were locked in combat with a large Viet Cong force fighting from fortified positions.

The 1st Division troops were sent to reinforce units of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade and the 25th Division.

A U. S. headquarters spokesman said there was no count of casualties on either side yet, but reported that some units had reportedly been in heavy contact with the enemy.

Artillery barrages and air strikes were being laid down in the rugged terrain of Tay Ninh Province, some 60 miles northwest of Saigon, to batter enemy positions and attempt to cut off any movement by the Communists toward Cambodia.

U. S. Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots kept up their battering of North Viet Nam and in the South, and two U. S. Navy destroyers reported exchanging fire with Communist shore batteries off North Viet Nam.

The sea action occurred about noon Friday, spokesmen said, when the patrolling destroyers Perkins and Braine came under fire from the shore about 35 miles southeast of Dong Hoi.

The 7th Fleet vessels maneuvered to avoid incoming fire and answered back with their own big guns.

There were no casualties aboard either destroyer, spokesmen said, and bomb damage assessment on the shore batteries was not available because of smoke and haze in the area.

The fighting in Tay Ninh Province is in a region known as War Zone C, which long has been a Communist stronghold. Elements of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade have been conducting an operation there that resulted in the seizure of large amounts of Communist supplies, especially rice, over the past week.

Some Vietnamese forces apparently had been hit hard in the most recent fighting. It was learned that an irregular defense force clashed heavily late Friday with the Viet Cong about 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City. There was no immediate estimate of the size of the Vietnamese unit, but it was known to have suffered heavy casualties.

Unlike the ravaging fire and explosions that killed 44 men and put the carrier Oriskany out of operation Oct. 26, there was no fire on the flight or hangar decks of the Roosevelt. Navy spokesmen said the Roosevelt had no personnel problems and thus would stay in the Gulf of Tonkin as one of three carriers from which air strikes over North Viet Nam are launched.

Finally he covered the half a mile to the farmhouse, after blacking out several times along the way.

"The last 200 feet I don't know how I did it. It got so I couldn't see or nothing."

As he neared the house he could see his wife leaving for work, but his voice was too hoarse to make himself heard as he called to her for help.

He reached the house about 6 p.m., Wednesday, some 4 1/2 to 5 hours after he was trapped.

The door was locked, but he found a key in his pocket and opened it. Crawling to the telephone, he called Sheriff Boone Browning.

He was taken to a hospital at Madison, then transferred to the Louisville hospital.

It is not certain whether the doctors can repair the crushed knee.

Mrs. Coots said, "It looks like it will be a long, slow recovery."

PAR Joins Medicare Scramble

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—The Public Affairs Research Council inadvertently entered the fuss over Medicare revenue Friday when it said the state would get about $12 million less than expected this fiscal year from the program.

The private, non-partisan research organization said in a report that present revenue sources to finance a teacher pay increase are not sufficient.

Gov. John McKeithen surprised newsmen Thursday when he said the state is hoping for $30 million in Medicare receipts for the state charity hospital system this year.

PAR said the state stands to get only about $6 million. The legislature budgeted $18 million for the charity hospital system as Medicare receipts.

A. L. Agerton, state director of hospitals, said earlier this week he expected a deficit but couldn't guess how much.

N. P. Hinhert, deputy in the division of administration, forecast a deficit of about $10 million. Welfare Commissioner Garland Bonin has also mentioned a possible deficit.

The PAR report raised serious questions about Legislative Budget Committee statements that the teacher pay increase could be financed without new taxes.

The council said it appears the state budget will barely be balanced. It said the state could end the fiscal year with either a budget or deficit, depending on revenue from two "unpredictable" sources.

These were identified as bonuses from mineral leaseings and the Medicare program. PAR said revenue from bonuses could exceed estimates but it warned the state should not rely on this "highly speculative possibility" to give teachers more money.

There was some good news for the state in the PAR analysis. It said the income tax should produce $3.9 million more than budgeted, the severance tax $9 million more. Sales tax collections will be off the estimate about $2 million, PAR said.

The research organization said the state will need all this increased revenue to balance the budget.

Other figures tallied Friday include: Monroe small businesses, $8,271.26; Monroe advanced gifts, $69,355.65; West Monroe advanced gifts, $22,983.55; West Monroe large business, $5,405.52; West Monroe small business, $2,465.22; Sterlington, $5,017.50; and Twin Cities professional and individuals, $21,730.

Agent Wants TV To Watch Jail Inmates

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarrusso wants to keep an eye on his prisoners, via television.

Giarrusso told the City Council Friday that a closed-circuit television setup, costing $140,000 would save the city $85,000 a year in Orleans Parish prison.

He said the equipment could be used to watch the ten tiers of cell blocks and would take 21 guards off the payroll. He said police officers are too expensive to be used as turnkeys.

The City Planning Commission, which makes recommendations on capital expenditures, asked the City Council to defer the project.

General Assembly Ratifies Nuclear Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly ratified Friday a joint U.S.-Soviet resolution calling for all nations to avoid actions that might cause a spread of nuclear weapons or hinder a treaty to prevent such a spread.

The resolution, viewed as an interim measure to serve pending adoption of a treaty on non-proliferation of nuclear weapons, was approved, 110-1 in the 121-nation General Assembly. Albania cast the negative vote.

Fire Marshal Of Louisiana Wins Award

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Association of Fire Investigators has designated Louisiana state Fire Marshal Milton Stire as State Fire Marshal of the Year 1966.

John Kennedy, president of the association, wrote Louisiana Gov. John J. McKeithen that the honor went to Stire as the state fire marshal "who has done the most within his state to protect lives and property through the activities of the deputy state fire marshals and other persons in his office."

Kennedy, in a letter dated Oct. 29, enumerated inspections, public relations, gas-installation certificates, and other increased efficiencies as carried out by Stire's office.

Cuba abstained. Albania, Communist China's mouthpiece in the United Nations, contends the resolution and the nonproliferation draft under discussion by the United States and the Soviet Union are part of a scheme to perpetuate their "nuclear monopoly" and blackmail the nonnuclear countries.

The overwhelming approval given the resolution reflected the almost unanimous expressions of hope by members that the United States and the Soviet Union would be able to agree on a nonproliferation treaty.

Speaking before the vote, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko called the solution "a step toward the treaty and the speedy solution of the spread of nuclear weapons."

It also is a step toward nuclear disarmament and it is to this, said the Soviet delegate, that "we must bend all our efforts."

Proliferation of nuclear weapons must be "decisively stopped," Fedorenko said, adding: "The people of the world expect this of us."

The United States did not speak before the vote on the resolution.

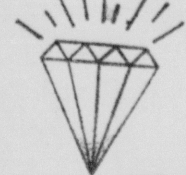

As originally conceived by the Soviet Union the resolution was regarded as a criticism of the United States for its refusal to deny West Germany any voice in the use of nuclear weapons within the framework of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

But the United States joined the sponsors of the original draft in a surprise move, saying there was nothing in it that the United States could not accept. The final resolution urged U.N. members to seek agreement on a nonspread treaty along line set forth last year by eight nonaligned members of the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva.

It urges all U.N. members to "refrain from actions conducive to proliferation of nuclear weapons" or that might hamper adoption of the treaty.

A Recommendation to the People Of Monroe Vote Against Amendment No.1!

TO GET A TRUE PICTURE OF THE FUTURE OUTLOOK FOR STATE GOVERNMENT IN LOUISIANA, IF AMENDMENT NO. 1 PASSES AND ALLOWS THE PRESENT TREND TO CONTINUE, CONSIDER THESE PROPOSALS MADE BY THE ADMINISTRATION'S FLOOR LEADERS WHICH COULD BE CONSIDERED AT THE SPECIAL SESSION OF THE STATE LEGISLATURE IN LATE NOVEMBER:

1. Abolish the Homestead Exemption Law, which could result in a tax averaging $50.00 to every Monroe homeowner.
2. A "horsepower tax" on automobiles, which would amount to approximately $77.00 per car per year.
3. A property equalization tax which would mean that property in Monroe would be assessed on the same basis as property in downtown New Orleans.

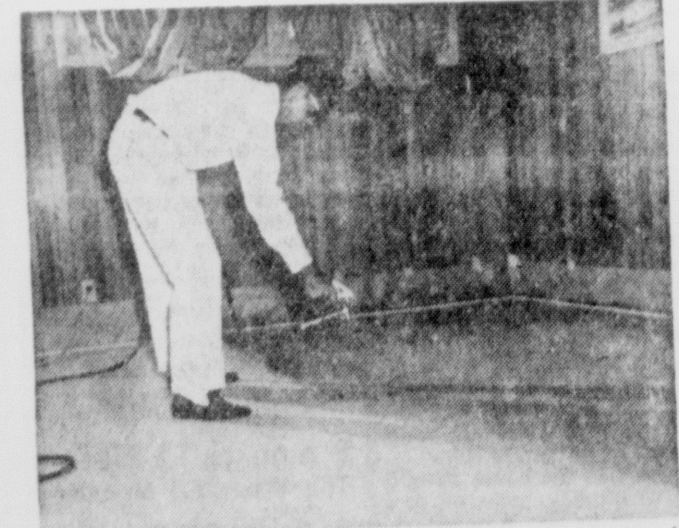

THESE PROPOSALS ARE BEING MADE FOR TAXES ON INDIVIDUALS WHILE TAXES ON CERTAIN LARGE CORPORATIONS HAVE BEEN RECENTLY REDUCED. CONSIDER THE CASE OF YOUR INSURANCE RATES: THE GOVERNOR'S INSURANCE COMMISSION (APPOINTED BY HIM) HAS THE INSURANCE BUSINESS IN SUCH A STATE OF CHAOS THAT SOME PEOPLE CAN'T GET INSURANCE AND WHEN THEY CAN GET IT, THE PRICE IS SO HIGH THEY CAN'T AFFORD IT!

Alexandria Bank Funds Found Short

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — An official of the Guaranty Bank & Trust Co. Friday confirmed that a shortage of funds has been discovered in the bank.

J. W. Beasley Jr., president of the institution, said the money was embezzled by a person he declined to name. The shortage was found in dormant savings accounts.

Some reports placed the shortage at possibly as much as $138,000. Beasley said a check was being made to determine the loss, but he thought it would run less than $100,000. He said the shortage is covered by the bank's bonding company.

Security Law Change

Belatedly, at its last session, Congress enacted changes in the Social Security law which made "sinning" less profitable. Prior to that time, the Social Security laws had changed the reading of the Bible — "The wages of sin is death"—to read, "The wages of sin is more in Social Security payments." That situation has not been changed entirely, particularly in regard to illegitimate children, but it has been changed in part as it affects women who want to remarry.

It is now possible, under the new Social Security law, for a widow by death, who had lived with her husband, in community, for as much as 20 years, to draw Social Security payments on her first husband's Social Security when she becomes of proper age, even though she may remarry in the meantime. It is also possible for her, under the same circumstances, to draw Social Security for herself as well as for her children on her first husband's account, if she has minor children by her first husband.

The same situation applies regarding a woman divorced from her first husband if it can be shown that she and her husband lived together, in community, or if he contributed as much as half toward her support for a 20-year or more period. An agreement of support is accepted as evidence that the husband contributed to his wife's support during that period.

New Concept Given

In part, this is a new concept in the Social Security program. Originally, it was possible for a divorced wife with minor children to draw Social Security on behalf of her children and for her children if the divorced husband was retired and drawing Social Security but heretofore a divorced wife had been completely cut off from her divorced husband's Social Security account if she had no children. Now, if she reaches Social Security age and if she and her husband lived in community or if he contributed one-half to her support for 20 years, she is eligible to draw half the amount of Social Security he would get.

Although the amount received by the woman under these circumstances is limited to one-half the amount her husband would have received if he had lived to draw Social Security, whereas a widow who had not remarried might draw as high as 82½ per cent of what her husband would have drawn, the present law is a great improvement over the previous law, under which the woman was cut off completely from any Social Security under her first husband's account if she remarried.

Formerly Unfair

This point of the law was protested vigorously and it was argued that the woman actually was defrauded, under its provisions, inasmuch as what the husband had paid in Social Security was from joint or community funds and that the widow, even though she remarried, was as much entitled to payment from that account as was the husband to whom she was first married. There were contentions that this phase of the law should be tested in the United States Supreme Court, since the widow seemed to be deprived by the law of what were her real and actual rights.

Most widows, under the new law, would be protected even though they remarried. Those who had been married less than 20 years would be likely to have minor children who would entitle them to draw on their first husband until the children became of age. Those who had been married 20 years or more would be protected for life when they reached the proper age, which might be 60, 62, or 65.

Recently, in the Ann Landers column, which appears daily in the Monroe Morning World, the following letter, under the heading "Golden Age Swingers May Have Cash Waiting," the following letter appeared:

"Dear Ann Landers: Apparently you were not aware of the changes in the Social Security laws or you would have given better advice to the 70-year-old widow who moved in with a gentleman the same age.

"The woman said marriage was out because she would then lose her deceased husband's Social Security. A widow can now remarry and collect 50 per cent of her husband's Social Security. Please tell her and thousands of others. Field Representative F.N.T."

Ann Landers' reply was:

"Dear Rep: Thank you for the information. And now to all you golden age swingers who are living together without benefit of clergy — check with your local Social Security office and get married already."

At this point, we would like to join in advising anyone who contemplates remarriage but is afraid to do so to check with Social Security officials to be sure the information supplied to us fits your particular case, since there are many different circumstances that may change things.

Letter Received

Recently there came to the Monroe newspapers a letter from a woman who said she owned a nice brick home in the country and wanted some one to share it with her, but not as a husband, because she could not afford to marry and lose her Social Security from her first husband. Apparently there were large numbers of cases of this kind. Now the situation is different.

Part of the information that may have resulted in changing the Social Security laws for the better was supplied in newspaper editorials, some of which were carried in the Monroe Morning World. Part was carried in newspaper stories and articles.

Out of Miami, Fla., before the law was changed, there was a story which said in part:

"That nice-looking old couple soaking up winter sunshine here might be living in sin because of Social Security laws. He could be a widower drawing his $85 per month Social Security. She could be a widow, living on Social Security benefits earned by her dead husband.

"Living together unmarried, they can face the remaining years with a certain amount of financial security. However, should they marry, she would immediately lose her Social Security benefits and they would have only his monthly check.

Problem Widespread

"The problem," said Max Friedson, president of the Florida Council of Senior Citizens, "is so widespread that one rabbi has agreed unofficially to bless such unions."

"Miami Beach Mayor Melvin Richard said he had written U.S. Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball to see if widows over 65 could continue to receive benefits earned by their former husbands.

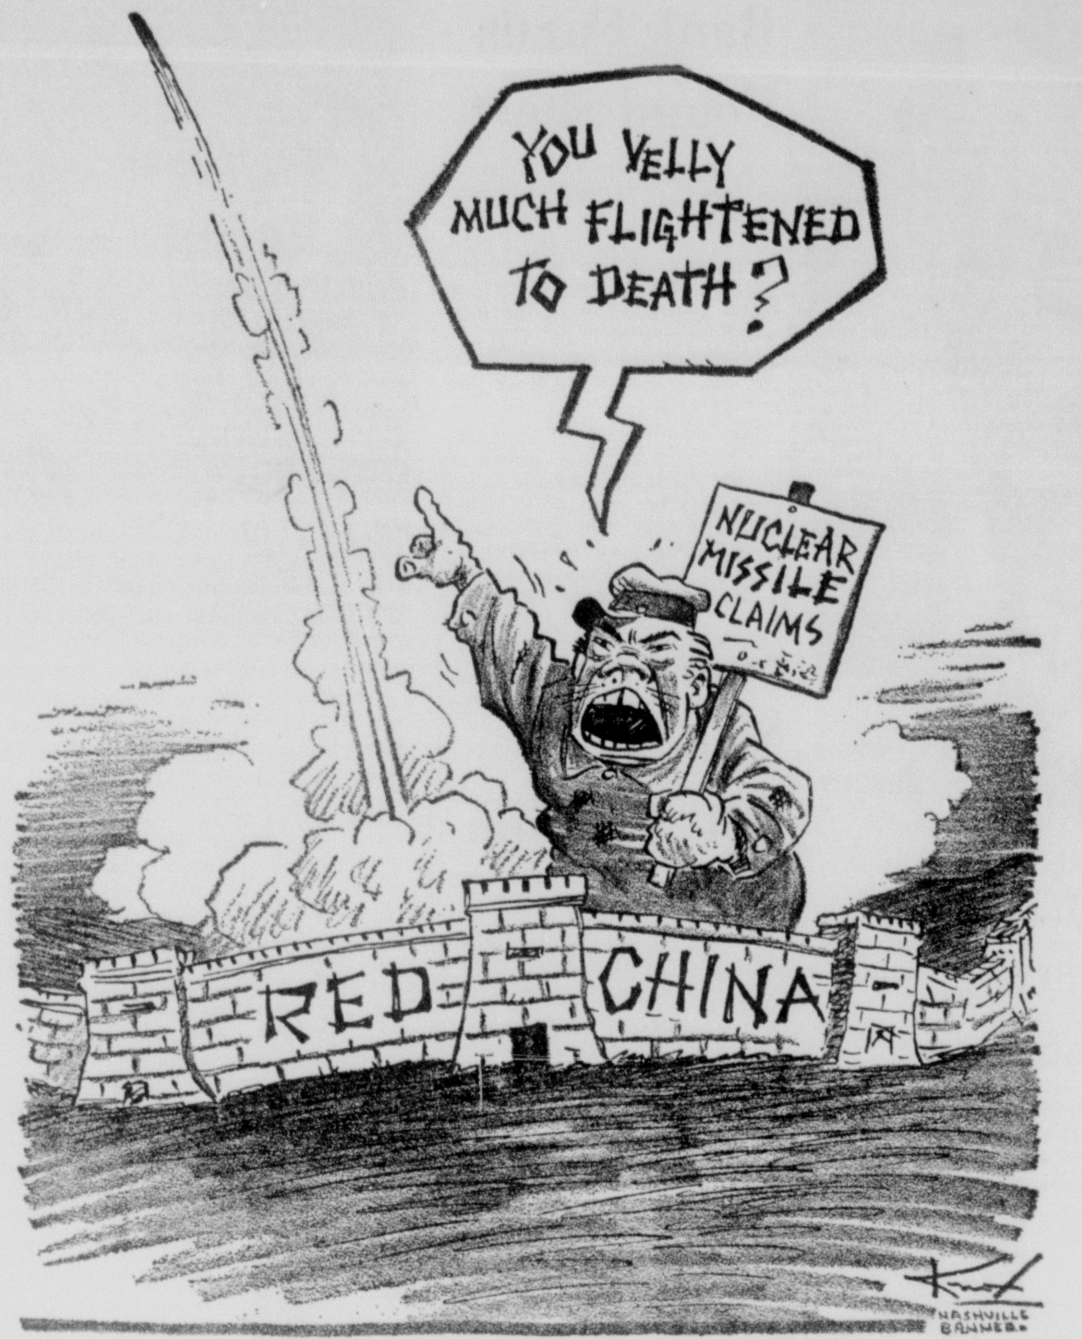

"These are people who have lived and taught morality," said Friedson. "Now society is forcing them to do something that is considered wrong."

This extremely bad and unjust situation has been partly corrected by the new Social Security laws. It is to be hoped they will be further corrected so that no one will profit financially by "living in sin."

It might be eventually that a woman will be allowed to choose which husband she wants to draw Social Security on, if she has been widowed or that she will be able to draw maximum widow's pension if a dead husband's earnings and a subsequent husband's earnings would entitle her to that much. In that way, she not only would not be penalized for not "living in sin" but would not be made to suffer further because of losing her first husband.

If you are affected, check with the local Social Security office.

Civil Rights Law Reversals Seen

Stringent Curbs Against Violence Slated

REGARDLESS OF the political complexion of the 90th Congress that convenes in January, it is a cinch that no new civil rights legislation will be enacted.

Even in the House, which passed the Johnson Administration's "open housing" bill in the recent session, the prospects for a new measure are dim. In the Senate, they are nonexistent. A last-ditch filibuster, such as scuttled the House-approved bill, would be certain.

On the other hand, virtually certain to be adopted are stringent curbs against civil disturbances, violence and looting such as have characterized racial riots in cities throughout the country in the past several years.

Already a number of such measures are awaiting early introduction when Congress reassembles.

SENATOR HARRY Byrd Jr., D-Va., and Representatives William Cramer, R-Fla., and Joel Broyhill, R-Va., will again propose the anti-riot bills they passed in the recent session. Other legislators also are known to contemplate sponsoring such measures.

Cramer's bill was overwhelmingly passed by the House (389 to 25) as an amendment to the civil rights measure. It provided stiff penalties — up to five years imprisonment and $100,000 fines — for using interstate travel facilities to foment riots "or other violent civil disobedience."

But Cramer's provision was junked with the rest of the civil rights bill by the Senate filibuster — led by Republican Floor Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill.

The measures offered by Senator Byrd and Representative Broyhill were incorporated as amendments in the $1.75 billion anti-poverty authorization bill. The Senate narrowly approved Byrd's proposal 38 to 32. Purpose of the two provisions is to bar the payment of federal funds to anyone who "incites, promotes, encourages or carries on a riot," and who is a "member of an organization designated as subversive by the Attorney General of the U. S."

THE BACKLASH — Crux of this profoundly significant shift in congressional sentiment is intense and widespread indignation at Negro mob turbulence and incendiary pronouncements by extremists such as Stokely Carmichael, head of SNCC, and Floyd McKissick, leader of CORE.

Carmichael's defiant denunciation of the draft law and the Viet Nam war is certain to lead to tough crackdown legislation. Representative Robert Sweeney, D-O., is drafting such a measure. Meanwhile, he is demanding Acting Attorney General Ramsey Clark prosecute the foreign-born Carmichael for opposing the draft and inciting others to do so. Although a supporter of civil rights legislation, Sweeney scathingly denounced the Cleveland rioting and favors forceful measures to prevent such outbreaks.

In this outraged reaction, he is joined by other House and Senate liberals.

For the first time, these champions of civil rights are speaking out in forthright condemnation of Negro violence and mob lawlessness. They are making it clear such civil disobedience cannot be tolerated and must be stopped.

Their new highly critical attitude is both immensely revealing and indicative of what is transpiring in and out of Congress.

IT IS THE much-discussed backlash in influential congressional levels.

Graphically illustrative are the comments of Representative Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the Joint Atomic Committee and former head of the liberal House Study Group. In a special statement for this column, Holifield said:

"As a dedicated supporter of all civil rights legislation during my 24 years in Congress, I have become increasingly concerned with the deterioration of the civil rights movement during the past year. The triumphs in passing civil rights legislation have rested on a coalition of racial groups moving together to correct the evils of discrimination in our society."

"The recent seizure of power by irresponsible extremists in the Negro community has in my opinion caused the stalemate that led to the defeat of the civil rights bill in the Senate. More importantly, the violation of civil law in many of our cities has engendered fear and hostility among the general population and a decline in interest and participation throughout the stable elements that made our progress in civil rights legislation possible in the past."

SIMILAR VIEWS were voiced by Senator George McGovern, D-S.D., Food for Peace administrator in the Kennedy Administration.

"As one long committed to the establishment of civil justice, I deplore the recent trend toward emotionalism and violence which certain extremist civil rights leaders have encouraged. The progress toward full citizenship for the Negro has been achieved in considerable part through appeals to the national conscience by reasonable, non-violent leaders, white and Negro. That accomplishment can be reversed if the ill-tempered epithet, the recklessly thrown brick and fire-bomb, and narrow appeals to racial power replace reason and restraint."

"The civil rights movement in the United States has reached the stage where the conference room is much more important than the streets."

Senator Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., strong supporter of the settled civil rights bill, attributed its defeat directly to widespread resentment at Negro violence and extremism. Said Javits:

"WHAT IS THE catalyst which brought about this unhappy reaction? I think many will agree with me that it was the sudden violence, the call to reverse racism and incoherent demagoguery of a few which have threatened and frightened the white community almost to the point where right and reason become secondary to visions about self-preservation. . . I have devoted a large part of my efforts and public life to eliminating racial segregation, and I refuse to sit by and see it resurrected by Negro extremists."

Representative Paul Fino, R-N.Y., member of the Joint Committee on Defense Production, told this column, "As one who has always supported civil rights legislation, I am sorry to see the day dawning when what is being sought is civil preference and privilege. Rioting must not be allowed to induce the enactment of civil privileges."

And Senator Gale McGee, D-Wyo., member of the potent appropriations Committee and a consistent civil rights supporter, declared:

"I HAVE BECOME increasingly concerned with the rising tensions in our population between white and black. Increasing militancy on one side breeds militancy on the other, and gives rise to what is commonly called the backlash. I do not ask that American Negroes give up their demands for equality in our country."

"But I think it is imperative that the more militant spokesmen and leaders of the movement realize the necessity of proceeding in orderly fashion, and that they eschew lawless activity endangering lives and property and pay heed to advice that they de-escalate the confrontation which, it appears, is increasingly building up. The alternative to reason could well be disaster for both black and white."

Representative Charles Weltner, D-Ga., who made history voting for the civil rights bill and by quitting Congress in protest at the gubernatorial nomination of Lester Maddox, unsparingly assailed "black power."

"Black power means the power of violence," said Weltner, "and that's all. It is not, as many would have us believe, a cry for economic justice."

WE PREDICT — New York Mayor John Lindsay's new civilian-controlled Police Review Board will be defeated in the referendum next Tuesday — despite the backing of Senators Jacob Javits, R., and Robert Kennedy, D. Playing a key role in this impending decisive rejection is backlash at Negro militancy. . . . Representative Charles Halleck, Ind., former House Republican Leader, will be re-elected despite tough opposition from a young Church of the Brethren minister. . . . Hall 66, has been a member of the House 32 years and this has been one of the hardest campaigns of his career. . . . Headed for defeat is Philip Sorensen, 32-year-old brother of Ted Sorensen, close assistant of President Kennedy, running as the Democratic candidate for governor in Nebraska. Young Sorensen was elected Lieutenant governor in the 1964 anti-Goldwater landslide, but this year will be licked by Norbert Tieman, 41-year-old Republican. . . . Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will resign his arduous Saigon post by the end of this year. The one-time Massachusetts senator and 1960 GOP vice presidential candidate, is tired and ailing. His year and a half in Viet Nam has taken a lot out of Lodge.

MILITARY retirees will get a 3.7 per cent cost-of-living pay increase as of December 1. This boost will total around $65 million, and retirees will get it in their January 2 pension checks. . . . Dr. Franklin Johnson, head of the trouble-plagued Job Corps, will shortly depart. The former president of California State College in Los Angeles has been Job Corps director since last October. . . . The U. S. will sharply warn Greece that economic and military aid will be cut off unless effective measures are taken to bar Greek ships from trading with Communist-ruled Cuba. At U.S. insistence the Greek government banned such trading, but has done little to enforce this edict. Several Greek ship owners have continued to trade with Cuba despite the prohibition. Now the State Department is threatening to get tough.

Wage-Price Control Scheming Is Denied

THE OFFICE of Emergency Planning, trying to sweep under the carpet what is evident to the careful observer, continues to inject itself into the political campaign by informing beleaguered Democratic candidates that there is no truth to reports that it is preparing plans for wage-price controls and rationing.

That a White House agency should involve itself in this kind of hanky-panky is more than a little disturbing. What is more surprising is the contention that the OEP has no such plans in mind for the present or the future, and that the reports appearing in this space are a figment of my imagination.

Corroboration comes from an unexpected source, however. The National Industrial Council, a group that competes with the National Industrial Conference Board, has issued a "mobilization memo," to inform its members that what I have written is simply rumor, with no basis in fact. Most of what the council says seems to come straight from the OEP. But in the next-to-last paragraph of the memo, the Council gives away the whole show.

"ANSWERING" what it calls "Rumor No. 3" — that the President, by Executive Order, recently called upon the Attorney General to draw up regulations to institute wage and price controls" — the Council states: "Executive Order No. 11310, then, formalizes the responsibilities assigned to the Attorney General (in the area of economic stabilization). OEP is called upon to make up and keep on hand plans for stabilizing the economy in time of national emergency. This includes wage, price, salary, rent, credit and rationing controls."

This hardly squares with the OEP's disingenuous assertion that it had never even heard of any plans for the controls that the Council sets out in its "mobilization memo." The Council goes on one letter by saying that similar "emergency" orders, to the number of 21, have been issued by the White House.

What is carefully glossed over is that these orders can be invoked at any time that President decides the nation is in a state of emergency. It need not be a war emergency — and if inflation continues at its present rate, that will be emergency enough.

THE OEP's lack of candor in this matter is a neat example of what Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism fraternity, meant this past week when it sharply criticized the "atmosphere of censorship and secrecy" that characterizes the present Administration.

The Freedom of Information Committee of Sigma Delta Chi was particularly disturbed by the President's manner of limiting most of his press conferences to a favored few in the Washington press corps, and by the intimidation practices on Pentagon officials by Assistant Defense Secretary Arthur Sylvester in his so far successful efforts to keep the press in ignorance of vital information concerning our military posture. Both of these examples are cited in the fraternity's report.

But often the truth will out. It is now an established fact that the White House has been working on wage-price control and rationing plans. Executive Order 11310 is there to be studied. The admissions of well-informed groups like the National Industrial Council add their corroboration. And the OEP's double-talk fails to convince anyone. What President Johnson will do, once the election has become history, is anybody's guess. But there is little comfort or reassurance to be derived from the efforts to suppress or ridicule facts that are now incontrovertibly on the record.

Changes Are Swift In Cities Of Mexico

GUADALAJARA, MEXICO — In my last column I departed from my usual pattern to write about one of my other favorite subjects, Mexico. I am in this most Mexican of Mexican cities to attend an annual festival.

This has long been known jokingly as the land of tomorrow. While Mexicans still follow the practice of the afternoon siesta and late evening meals, there certainly remains today nothing of the laziness suggested by the word manana.

In my many visits to Mexico during the course of years spent on the border, it has been a most interesting experience to watch her communities not only keep abreast of world modernization, but in many areas to surpass it. Guadalajara, the second largest city in the republic, is one which has changed its entire downtown face in the past 20 years.

No longer are the streets narrow and the shops crowded upon one another. The avenues are wide, the shops are spacious, modern and new. The buildings grow tall into the clear air and are as modern in their design and decor as any to be found in the world.

YOUTH SEEMS to be the dominant factor in this part of Mexico, with a mayor, only 36, already in his second term and

Speaker Urges State Bar To Show Activity

"The Louisiana State Bar Association is active and on the go."

This was the theme set Friday noon as Association President John R. Pleasant addressed about 30 attorneys attending the second annual Continuing Professional Education Seminar at the Bayou DeSiard Country Club.

Despite the activity, which the speaker documented with an accounting of association programs and committees, those attending were urged to be "even more active."

Pleasant quoted Sir Francis Bacon to the extent that, "Every man is a debtor to his profession."

He cited an association budget this year of $105,000 and outlined the work and aims of several major committees, among them the Committee on Continuing Professional Education, headed for the past two years by Jesse D. McDonald of Monroe.

McDonald arranged the 9 a. m. to 4:15 p. m. program, delivered the welcome and introductory remarks and introduced Pleasant, praising the president's "capable and effective leadership."

Pleasant, a former Caddo Parish district judge, touched on the history of the state bar association, membership in which was made compulsory for lawyers in March, 1941. Now, he said, local bar associations exist in every Louisiana parish but two.

He went into the functions of the association — broken down principally as duties to clients, to the profession and to the public — and discussed responsibilities of several committees; among them Law Reform, Ethics, Unauthorized Practice, Judicial Selection, Admiralty, American Citizenship and Insurance. Pleasant also reviewed the role of the association's voluntary Client Security Fund, administered to protect the public from possible dealings with unscrupulous attorneys.

Other attorneys on the morning program were Richard H. Switzer of Shreveport, discussing "Current Developments in the Law of Insurance and Workmen's Compensation in Louisiana;" Ewell P. Walther Jr., of New Orleans, "Common Use of Trusts in Wills;" Kenneth Rigby of Shreveport, "Jurisdictional Problems in Divorce Cases;" and Thomas A. Harrell of Shreveport, "Current Developments in Louisiana Mineral Law."

Afternoon speakers included Switzer on "Current Developments in Louisiana in the Law of Negligence;" Harrell, "Title Problems from Tax Sales;" Rigby, "The Cross Examination of Medical Witnesses;" and Stephen P. Dart of St. Francisville, "Current Developments in Louisiana in the Law of Trust Es-

Jes' Ramblin'

Fountain City

With a little imagination, Monroe, like Rome, may be termed the city of fountains. After a few adjustments Friday, the new courtyard fountain at the new City Hall was made to tower to its destined heights; the Noe Fountain in front of the new Civic Center is on the drawing boards, and an arrangement of three spouting fountains went into operation Friday night in front of a shopping center along Louisville Avenue. The latter fountains will be played upon by colored lights at night.

Blacksmith

Jake Smith is a smithy. In this day of horseless carriages, it was a surprise indeed to learn that Smith and his 83-year-old brother, Henry, plan to improve their blacksmith shop at 1903 DeSiard. Business is stepping right along, we suppose.

Right Hunch

Monroe policemen have a six-day week. When Sgt. Jerry Cowart showed up Friday evening to work the police radio and telephone, it made his seventh day, giving rise to speculation on the part of Jes' Ramblin'.

A few calls justified the suspicion. Jerry had come in to work on his off-night so other, younger policemen could enjoy their own ball that night — the Policemen's Ball at the West Monroe fairgrounds.

Stereo Tests

Music appreciation is one thing but there are limits. Or so say students who are fortunate to have to take their mid-term exams in the Biedenharn Building at Northeast. It seems the daily sessions of hand practice are slightly bothersome as the sound reverberates throughout the building. Students complain, instructors complain; but alas some highly nervous types continue taking tests in stereo while their grades begin to look like the decending end of the scale.

Martin Sees Record Vote In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A record 435,000 votes on 45 constitutional amendments next Tuesday was forecast Friday by Secretary of State Wade O. Martin.

He based his estimate on the present total registered vote, largest in history, and "on the voters' custom of turning out in large numbers when lively issues are before them."

Some state officials have predicted a higher vote because of the interest that Amendment No. 1, the gubernatorial succession proposal, has created.

During 1964, a presidential election year, about 35 per cent of the voters cast ballots on 41 constitutional amendments.

"Over the past 20 years," Martin said, "the records show that voter participation in constitutional amendment balloting has been low, particularly in non-presidential election years."

"It has averaged about 31 per cent of registration for all years but dropped as low as 13 per cent in off-years."

Martin said interest on the two-term amendment will produce an upward trend.

There are 1,281,919 registered voters in the state, about 80,000 greater than the previous high.

Martin noted an increased turnout when state civil service, homestead benefits, the Toledo Dam project and the Code of Ethics were voted on.

Hospital District

PINEVILLE (Special) — A group seeking a hospital will ask the Rapides Parish Police Jury Tuesday to create a hospital district including Wards 9, 10 and 11 to have five commissioners, and ultimately to operate a medical facility here.

Financing of a hospital could be done through local revenue, federal Hill-Burton Act funds, or under the Economic Development Act, according to C. Scott Yeager Jr., a member of the group seeking the hospital.

Dr. A. L. Rayburn, chairman of the group, said the need in the area for new facilities was due to a "tremendous increase" in private patients under medi-

Kosygin May Visit London For Meeting

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin may visit London for consultation with British leaders after his December talks with President Charles de Gaulle of France, diplomatic reports said Friday.

Diplomatic speculation about an imminent visit of the Soviet leader was set off by a surprise call Thursday night of the Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Smirnovsky to 10 Downing Street.

The envoy's confidential meeting with Prime Minister Harold Wilson was understood to have dealt with the possibility of Kosygin's trip to London within the next five weeks.

The British Labor government is anxious for the visit to materialize, the earlier the better, the sources said.

Government officials maintained silence. They did recall that Kosygin accepted British invitation earlier this year when Wilson was in Moscow in February. Officials said they are "waiting for a firm date," which diplomatic speculation suggested could be set for next month or early in the new year.

U.S. Maj. Gen. Richard Ciccolella of the U.N. Command points to blood-stained Communist army uniform held by Lt. Col. Arthur Kennedy during meeting of the Korean military armistice commission in Panmunjom Friday. Seated at center is a South Korean member of the commission. The U.N. Command accused the North Koreans of slaying six U.S. soldiers and a South Korean south of the demilitarized zone this week. (AP Wirephoto)

Angry U.S. General Berates Korea Reds

PANMUNJOM (UPI)—An American general angrily informed his North Korean counterpart Friday the Communists were on a collision course with the Allies that could lead to more bloodshed in Korea unless Red atrocities are halted.

"Make no mistake," said Army Maj. Gen. Richard G. Ciccolella. "These are not empty words. They are spoken with sincerity, honesty, determination and also with a realization that the path of self destruction that you have trod is leading toward more bloodshed."

Ciccolella's warning was delivered to North Korean Gen. Pak Chung Kuk at the 232nd meeting of the Military Armistice Commission. He and Pak engaged in the angriest exchange heard here since the end of the Korean war in 1953.

The United Nations command demanded—but did not get—an explanation from the Communists concerning the ambush and killing of one South Korean and six American soldiers just south of the demilitarized zone early Wednesday.

Instead the North Koreans accused the U.N. forces of violating the armistice agreement 10 times, including three intrusions into North Korean territory by land and naval forces.

Tension reached a new high at the meeting as both the U.N. command and the Pyongyang representative warned each other patience and restraint have limits. The U.N. charged the Communists with violating the armistice agreement 12 times since Oct. 15.

Landscape Development Top Priority

The Monroe Beautification Board has designated landscape development for the proposed Central Park in downtown Monroe as the top priority project after completion of the current work on the Monroe City Plaza site.

The group held its first fall meeting Thursday. Discussing the proposed park, located on the site of the former Central Grammar School grounds, the board expressed hope that work will begin during the current planting season.

In other actions, the board adopted a committee draft of a proposed resolution re-defining the role of the board in encouraging programs to enhance the beauty of the city. The resolution will be presented to the city council for action.

Mayor W. L. Howard outlined the role of Errol Donovan, city horticulturist, who was introduced to the board.

New Positions Reported Open

Two new positions are open with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, local examiner-in-charge John S. Daniel, announced Friday.

Federal meat inspectors and poultry inspectors are needed to fill existing vacancies in the Consumer and Marketing Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Applicants must pass a written test and must have had at least three years experience, gained since their 18th birthday, with livestock, poultry or meat.

Local Chamber Meeting Slated

Monroe Chamber of Commerce industrial committee members will meet Wednesday at 3 p.m. in the chamber offices.

Scheduled for discussion by the group is the need for additional industrial sites and parks in the city.

The committee will hear a past report of Monroe's industrial activities and will plan a visit to Longview, Tex., to visit that city's industrial sites and parks.

Pak dismissed as "fabrications" the charges that Communist troops killed the six Americans and the Korean and mutilated their bodies. Ciccolella rejoined:

"The responsibility for whatever course may develop from continued acts of hostility will rest clearly on your side. The United Nations command will not shirk its duties and responsibilities under whatever conditions exist."

"After murdering our soldiers in cold blood your vicious, bloodthirsty killers then smashed the heads of the dead men with such savage brutality as to render all recognition impossible."

The American general accused the Communists of first attacking the soldiers with grenades and then "in cold blood raked them with machine gun fire."

He said the sole survivor of the patrol, PFC. David L. Bibee, 17, of Ringgold, Va., "identified your killers." He produced military gear stained with blood as proof of the charges. A Russian-manufactured hand grenade, a pair of blood-soaked gloves and 100 spent cartridges were included.

Kiwanis Club Is Observing Key Club Week

The Monroe Kiwanis Club has joined in the observance of Key Club Week, building its last program around youth and adult speakers from the St. Frederick's High School branch of that organization.

Key Club is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the Monroe club sponsors branches at New Orleans, Baton Rouge, and Shreveport. The club sponsors branches at New Orleans, Baton Rouge, and Shreveport.

Dan McClure, St. Frederick's coach and committeeman of four Key Club regions — 6, 9, 11 and 12 — comprising Louisiana, Mississippi and West Tennessee, described the scope of activities and a recent district convention in Biloxi, Miss.

Meanwhile, Mike Guidry, president of St. Frederick's Key Club, outlined for the Kiwanians at their noon meeting Wednesday at the Frances Hotel the aims of his organization — service, character, loyalty and responsibility.

As work accomplished at his school, Guidry mentioned the starting of a newspaper and the painting of trash cans. The club is working to buy a speakers' bureau for the Student Council at St. Frederick's, he said.

McClure said that Region 6, in which the local area falls, contains eight Kiwanis Clubs sponsoring 11 Key Clubs composed of 280 boys. His four regions contain 22 Kiwanis Clubs sponsoring 30 Key Clubs composed of 70 boys.

The Key Club movement began in 1925 in Sacramento, Calif., he said.

Guests from the Ouachita Club were Jim Landrum and Ed Carter. From Neville, Keith Moncrief and Steve Betts visited, and Frankie Joseph and Jim Clark attended from St. Frederick's.

Kiwanis birthdays recognized Wednesday included those of Ben Parnell, Dave Agnew Sr., S. W. McLean, Tom Scott and Tom Doles. Chairman Ray Frankowitz, reporting on the club's recent Pancake Day sale, called it a "very successful" event.

Boys' Club Meet Set At Bastrop

BASTROP (Special) — Delegates from Shreveport, Bastrop and West Monroe boys clubs, as well as representatives from New Orleans and Lake Charles are expected to be among about 100 persons attending a meeting of the Louisiana Area Council of Boys' Clubs here today.

The West Monroe group will be headed by Judge John McCormick, local club president, and Lloyd Williams, club director.

Ralph Caldwell, area president from West Monroe, will preside over the session to be held from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Louisiana Motor Hotel here. Reports will be given by Warren Brown, southern regional director, and Charles Camp, assistant director.

The President's Report for 1966 will be rendered by Bastrop Mayor John Tulley, president of the Bastrop Boys Club, by McCormick, and by Edwin Moore, chairman of the Salvation Army Boys Club of Shreveport.

Caldwell is starting his second year as area council president.

"So You Are Thinking of a Building Campaign" will be the subject of the executive director and president of the Jackson, Miss., Boys Club.

With registration beginning the day at 9:30 a.m., a noon luncheon will divide the activities.

Shoplifting Is Charged Against 3

Monroe Police Friday arrested three persons on a charge of shoplifting in a rash of crimes generally attributed to the Christmas season by officials.

Shirley Ann Joslin, 17, of Mer Rouge, Joseph C. Erwin, 18, of 6A Louis Lock Homes, and Sandra Smith, 65, of 1712 Wallace St., were all charged with one count of shoplifting and their bail was set at $250 each.

Bernice McGee, 41, of 2706 Grammont St., was booked Thursday on a theft charge.

West Monroe officers Friday night arrested two men on a charge of simple battery stemming from an altercation in the stands at the West Monroe Bossier City high school football game.

They were: Laverne Huckaby, 37, of Rt. 5, Butler Ave., West Monroe, and Tom Younse, 46, of 307 Arlington Place, West Monroe.

A charge of carrying a concealed weapon brought about the arrest of Eddie Davis, 49, of 712 Coleman St., West Monroe.

Monroe Officers are continuing their investigation of a burglary of Clark's School, 1300 Beard St., where several coin machines were broken into and all the money was taken.

Fire Cause Not Known

A cause has not been determined yet by fire officials of a blaze which gutted the Grapette Bottling Co. at 109 Moore Ave.

Makes Request

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Rapides Parish District Attorney F. Jean Pharis Friday asked Gov. John J. McKeithen to commission district attorney elect Edwin O. Ware as a 2nd Assistant District Attorney for the remainder of Pharis's term.

Pharis said he is taking the action in order to familiarize Ware with present problems in the office and with cases which are expected in the future.

Ware defeated Pharis for the district attorney post in the Democratic primary last August. Ware will assume office early next year.

UNCOVER MINES

TEL AVIV (UPI) — An Israeli patrol Friday discovered newly planted mines near the Syrian border. The mines were removed and a complaint filed with the United Nations Truce Supervisory Organization.

If Amendment #1 Is Really Good For Louisiana, Then Why Try To Fool The People With Misleading Advertising?

Although the sponsors of these look-alike billboards would have you believe that a number of different groups are behind them, just ONE so-called "business" faction is responsible for them.

for new industry Vote #1
paid for by Businessmen

This has nothing to do with amendment No. 1. In fact, the opposite could be true depending on who is elected governor in the future. Industry is NOW PROTECTED BY THE PRESENT LIMITATION which prevents a political machine in Louisiana.

for good government Vote #1 paid for by Citizens for good government

Future governors would control the LSU Board and ALL CONSTITUTIONAL BOARDS INCLUDING CIVIL SERVICE if amendment No. 1 passes. Certainly, no clear-thinking person could call this good government.

for good jobs Vote #1
paid for by working people

If an undesirable governor were elected for eight years, just the opposite would be true. Have we forgotten so soon? Cecil Shilstone of the "Committee for Government by Choice" admitted his "businessman" group paid for this billboard, yet the deceptive line "paid for by working people" was included.

Protect Our Constitution
Vote Against #1
Paid for by Lee Leonard, NBC Building, New Orleans, who as vice president of Young Men of Louisiana, Incorporated, actively campaigned for McKeithen's election.

Pros & Cons
Of Playoffs

WELCOME TO THE weekly bits and pieces department. If you like facts, fiction, figures or fun there's bound to be something in here for you. Or if not, there's sure to be something you can object to.

Like, for instance, I agree with Big Ten coach Duffy Daugherty on the Bowl game situation. Which, of course, means I disagree with SEC commissioner Tonto Coleman on the subject. And that in itself should be enough for any red-blooded SEC football fan to object to.

MY REFERENCE in the above paragraph is to Daugherty's suggestion that the national collegiate football championship be settled with a playoff each year. This makes sense to me. It probably makes sense to people like SEC boss Coleman, too, except for a little item such as money. But, then, you can see Tonto's point, too. At least from his position.

I enjoy bowl games, myself. However as Daugherty said, it's getting to the point where teams in the South with a 6-4 record and third place league finish are getting some Bowl invitations. And, this I can't see. If nothing else it means that there are too many Bowls. It's taking some of the prestige out of going to Bowl games.

THE REAL REASON I'm against the present situation centers around the fact that everybody in the country seems to put great stock in who is voted number one in the country. And if this is what people are really interested in, it should be carried out in a manner so that a true champion can be crowned.

With the Bowl setup we now have, there is no legitimate way to decide who's the best. Just look at last year's developments. When UCLA beat Michigan State and LSU tripped Arkansas while Alabama was whipping Nebraska, the Tide was declared national champ. This is a bunch of bunk.

The only thing proved last Jan. 1 was that Alabama was better than Nebraska. Whether it could have beaten any of those other folks mentioned will never be known.

However, with a playoff it would be much clearer who the top clubs were. And a true national champion could be declared by virtue of the fact that the eventual winner would have advanced through the ranks of the unbeaten and would stand alone as the king of college football.

OH, WELL, that's just the way I feel about it. I don't expect to accomplish anything in particular, just let off steam. There'll be a little talk about the possibilities of such a project, but it's unlikely that anything will be done.

Tradition is a hard stone to turn. And, quite often, that's good.

Heck, I'm also for intra-league baseball play in the Majors (pitting National League teams against American in regular season) but it doesn't look like I'll ever see it.

About Those Bits &amp; Pieces

MY NOMINATION for most under-rated team in the nation: Miami. The onrushing Hurricanes, Tulane's foe tonight, now own victories over Colorado, Indiana, Georgia and South Cal. . . which makes LSU's 10-8 win over them look pretty good.

QUESTION OF THE week: Where will the Super Bowl game (NFL vs. AFL) wind up, if there is one this year? It was being talked up for either New Orleans (Sugar Bowl) or Pasadena, Calif. (Rose Bowl). Now both appear out. New Orleans is now a member of the NFL, therefore unsuitable as a neutral site, and Pasadena recently said the pros were unwelcome there. Seems they don't want to make any enemies among the college ranks.

By the way, have any idea what the average pro football crowd is? The figures say 47,000. Louisiana shouldn't have any trouble upholding its end of the average . . . if everybody around here wants the team as much as it appears.

ONE FOR THE ROAD. Did you hear the comment from Bob Hope this past summer when he was in Houston and saw the artificial grass in the Astrodome: "It'll look even more realistic next week. They're putting in some artificial crabgrass."

The Way I See 'Em

Another so-so week slid by last Saturday with a 21 right, 8 wrong, one tie mark for a percentage of .758. Overall, I've now predicted 220 games, hit 159 correctly and had four ties. That averages out to .736.

Here are the weekly riots:

GULF STATES CONFERENCE: Tampa 21, Northeast 10 — Same situation as when the Tribe took on major college East Carolina and two times in one year is one too many. Northwestern 30, McNeese 7 — From what I've seen, it should be an easy one for the Demons. Southwestern 10, Arkansas State 7 — Will be a real good game, and maybe too good for the Bulldogs if their injury situation isn't improved. Louisiana Tech 21, Southeastern 7 — It's Homecoming, and surely the Bulldogs can get up for this one.

SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE: Alabama 28, LSU 7 — A few weeks ago it was extremely hard to figure whether the Bengals would be up or down; now it's not so hard. Mississippi State 14, Auburn 7 — Good showing against 'Bama should have helped State. Florida 24, Georgia 14 — Man, I'd go with Spurrier if he were playing Red China. Kentucky 19, Vanderbilt 17 — Battle of the have-nots. Tennessee 37, Chattanooga 6 — Two chances for the Moccasins: none and less than none.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE: SMU 21, Texas A&M 17 — Don't sell the Aggies short. Arkansas 32, Rice 10 — Owls are duck soup for the rough Razorbacks. Texas 17, Baylor 13 — Both lost last week, should be a good one. Texas Tech 26, Oklahoma State 24 — These two appear real even.

OTHERS: Miami 21, Tulane 15; Houston 30, Tulsa 22; UCLA 20, Washington 16; Stanford 7, Air Force 0; Southern Cal 21, California 3; North Carolina State 13, Maryland 7; Oklahoma 30, Kansas State 0; Ohio State 25, Indiana 14; Notre Dame 40, Pitt 12; Minnesota 14, Northwestern 0; Nebraska 33, Kansas 18; Colorado 21, Missouri 13; Michigan State 34, Iowa 9; Michigan 20, Illinois 14; Syracuse 38, Penn State 14; Army 23, George Washington 7; Purdue 21, Wisconsin 16.

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Rayville Hornets fought from behind in the last half to share a 13-13 tie with the Winnsboro Wildcats in a district 2-A game Friday night.

Winnsboro grabbed a 13-0 lead with two first quarter touchdowns, tailback Tommy Baldwin capping a 62-yard drive with a touchdown dash from five yards out in the first quarter, and quarterback Lee Pankey cracking across from the three after a 74-yard march in the second quarter. Ronnie Winborne converted behind the Pankey TD.

The Hornets first sent halfback Mike Cooper into paydirt from nine yards out in the third period, quarterback Stanley Livingston kicking the point.

Then, with a minute and 15 seconds left in the last period, end Larry Shoemaker made an endzone catch of a 30-yard pass from Livingston that tied the score. Rayville's kick for a possible winning point was blocked.

Winnsboro had two field goal bids blocked in the second half.

FERRIDAY (Special) — The Ferriday Bulldogs clicked in a hurry Friday night to win its first double victory of the season, a 19-7 decision over Caldwell of Columbia.

Larry Vestal put Ferriday on the scoreboard in a hurry when he gathered in the opening kickoff and scooted all the way—80 yards. David Mann backed him with the kick for the point.

Two more Ferriday touchdowns came in the second quarter when Paul Ferris passed to Jehu Brabham from 23 yards out, and the Bulldogs' "Georgia special" brought another from the 32 when Ferris passed to Brabham who lateraled to Jerry Burroughs for the TD.

Fred Wilks scored Caldwell's lone touchdown from the five in the second period, and he also kicked the point.

Vestal and Milton "D" Reed twice stopped Caldwell passing threats with interceptions.

Ferriday mixed a good ground game with adequate passing in which Ferris connected on nine of 17 throws for 158 yards.

YOU BE THE
QUARTERBACK

By Duffy Daugherty
Head Coach,
Michigan State University

You are the Quantic Marine quarterback against Drake. Usually a good faker, you have handed the ball off to your left halfback going right and have not this time carried through your fake. Walking to your left, obviously without the ball, you are blocked sharply by the Drake right end. What ruling do you expect?

1. Legal block — the play is still on?
2. Fifteen yard penalty against Drake?
3. Summary court martial? (Answer elsewhere on Sports Page)

Northeast Facing Air-Minded Tampa

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Editor

TAMPA, Fla. — Northeast State, not particularly famous for its pass defense, receives the sternest air test of 1966 here tonight against the Tampa Spartans on Phillips Field.

Game time is set for 7:15 CST. Coach Dixie White's Indians, who pulled the upset of the year in Gulf States Conference circles last week by downing Southwestern 10-7, might naturally still be in cloud nine over the big win.

And, just as naturally, it would seem they better get down off that cloud abruptly if there's to be any chance of a win tonight. But with the passing attack of Tampa it might be just as well for the Indians — especially the defensive secondary — to stay up there. The traffic's bound to be heaviest in the atmosphere.

With quarterback Jesse Kaye, a Wisconsin transfer, doing most of the throwing Tampa has moved for over 200 yards a game through the airways.

In fact, although the Spartans were soundly beaten by Houston last Saturday, 48-9, take a look at what Kaye did. Throwing 41 times, he connected on 16 passes for 237 yards to raise his school record total to 1,241 yards. He also kicked a 25 yard field goal and threw 13 yards to Gary Rapp for the Spartans' lone TD.

Rapp is apparently one of Tampa's top receivers. Against Houston, one of the better major college clubs in the nation, he hauled in seven tosses for 82 yards.

When Tampa did run the ball, it had only nine yards on the ground last week, the top ball carrier is Ernie Casares, nephew of former Florida and Chicago Bears full back Rick Casares.

Kansas City Can Do It Says Peerless Picker

By MIKE RATHET
NEW YORK (AP) — The big one this week among the pro games is Kansas City-San Diego for the Western Division lead in the American Football League.

Your Peerless Pro Picker, who rounded back into shape last week after a long layoff, says the Chiefs can do it.

The record last week was 7-4 for 58-25 and a 690 percentage over-all — the first time the mark has dropped under 700. But the following winners will get YPPP back in the clouds after the 11-game Sunday program.

Kansas City 31, San Diego 21 — The Chiefs, with either Bert Coan or Mike Garrett at half-back, should be able to move on the ground as well as in the air against the Chargers. San Diego isn't getting enough rushing yardage to complement John Hadl's passing and that could be the decisive factor.

Boston 35, Denver 14 — The Patriots figure to hold their slim Eastern lead while Jim Nance eats up more yardage on the ground. The Broncos best weapon last week was Bob Scarpio's running out of a fake punt formation.

Buffalo 28, Miami 21 — This could be a toughie since Cookie Gilchrist will be getting his first shot this season at his former Buffalo teammates. The Bills, however, are too strong over-all to lose.

Oakland 28, Houston 21 — Clem Daniels has been coming on strong for the Raiders while Tom Flores has been doing a good job at quarterback. The Oilers, who blow hot and cold, are hard to figure but it looks like Oakland.

Cleveland 42, Pittsburgh 21 — The Steelers, belted by Dallas 52-21 last week, will get off a little easier this time — but not much. Browns are rolling now and can't afford to lose ground to St. Louis.

St. Louis 38, New York 17 — The Cardinals hold first place in the East and they don't figure to surrender it by losing to the powerful Giants. Charley Johnson, who had a bad day against Chicago Monday night, should find the New York defense easier.

Dallas 35, Philadelphia 31 — Should be an interesting scoring affair with Don Meredith of the Cowboys and Norm Snead of the Eagles matching bombs. Boy Hayes has been checked recently, but he's due to break loose.

Green Bay 28, Minnesota 24 — Paul Hornung, out for two weeks, likely will be back in the Packers' backfield and the way Elijah Pitts played last week the Golden Boy will have some extra incentive strutting his stuff.

Baltimore 31, Washington 17 — Johnny Unitas is hot. That should be enough. The Colts still trail Green Bay by 1½ games in the West and another loss would make it extremely difficult to catch up.

Chicago 21, Detroit 10 — Two sputtering offenses. Give the Bears the edge because of Gale Sayers. Karl Sweetan, the Lions' rookie quarterback, has been doing a good job, but he doesn't have much to work with.

ANSWER

No. 2. Fifteen yard penalty. No player shall run into an opponent obviously out of the play before or after the ball is dead. Rule 9, Section 1, Article 2h applies.

Tampa goes into the contest with a 3-3 mark. The Spartans have taken victories over major college Bowling Green, 20-12; Akron, 20-12; and Furman, 41-2; and have lost to Tulsa, 57-11; North Texas, 41-6; and Houston. Of course, all three defeats have been administered by major college clubs.

All the Spartan losses have come on the road and all the wins at home. Tampa has won six straight home games, its last loss on Phillips Field coming at the hands of Delta State, 32-32, last season.

Northeast's Indians, trying to post their fifth win in a season for the first time since 1958, are now 4-3. Victories have come over Southeast Missouri, 20-9; major college East Carolina, 21-14; Louisiana College, 41-0; and Southwestern. Losses have been to Northwestern, ranked number one in the NAIA small college poll, 23-14; McNeese, 18-17; and Southeastern, 14-13.

If the Tribe is to pick up its fifth triumph tonight it will have to come largely from a potent rushing power which has averaged 228 yards per contest.

Most of the rushing power has been supplied by the outside bursts of Dalton LeBlanc, Alton Thomas and Steve Mansur and the inside thrusts of full-back Bobby Scafield. All four are among the top 10 GSC runners.

LeBlanc has posted a 5.9 mark, Thomas 5.2, Scafield 4.1 and Mansur 3.8.

And if the Northeast ground game is to work it will have to do so against a big Spartan forward wall. It is the largest club Northeast has faced other than Northwestern.

Meanwhile, the Northeast defense has shown constant improvement and came up with its top effort of the year last week against Southwestern.

Starters defensively include ends Kenneth Holland and Charles Rohner, tackles Ron Sumter and Charles Rogers, nose guard Greg Jubert, linebackers Butch Shuman and Wayne Cunningham, cornerbacks Larry Johnson and Nic LaBarbera and halfbacks Thomas Eddleman and Lynn Mitchell.

The offensive line for Northeast features Al Miller and Floyd Giblin at ends, James Kirkendall and Allen Richert at tackles, Joe Bonduant and Andy Mapp at guards and Vic Bender at center.

Alabama Shooting For Third National Crown Against LSU

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant has been reminding Alabama all week that it still has a shot at a third straight national championship, and the Crimson Tide is expected to move a step nearer that goal Saturday against Louisiana State.

Victory also is a must for the Crimson Tide's bid for another Southeastern Conference crown, and Alabama is a solid favorite in the regionally televised football game which will attract 70,000 to Legion Field.

Bryant, unhappy with the Tide in a 27-14 victory over Mississippi State a week ago, has been pleased by the spirit displayed in practice, and he said "they've sounded like defending national champions" in pregame workouts.

That's had news for Louisiana State, which has been trying to organize an offense all fall without much success. The Tigers, already out of the league race with two losses, have a 3-3-1 season record and were blanked 17-0 by Mississippi last week.

"We'll have to play a perfect game to beat Alabama," Coach Charley McClendon said, trying to snap Louisiana State out of a slump. "We need our best offensive game, our best defensive game and our best kicking game."

McClendon is hoping that quarterback Freddie Haynes is over the sophomore jitters and ready to start moving the Tigers. Haynes had a fine game a week ago but his efforts were spoiled by five Tiger fumbles.

"We can't fumble against Alabama and hope to win," McClendon said, well aware of the 31-7 whipping administered to the Tigers by Alabama a year ago.

The Tigers have had to make some changes in their defensive plans this week because Wayne Trimble has moved up at quarterback.

McDonogh Wins

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Riding the upset bandwagon here Friday night, McDonogh outclassed Warren Easton 13-6 in a Triple-A game that was not as close as the score indicated.

Both Trojan tallies were made in the second period by fullback Bruce McKeough. McKeough bulled his way over from the 10 for the first score and later plunged into the end zone from the one.

Easton didn't break the scoring ice until 57 seconds were left on the clock. The tally came on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Larry Booksh to halfback Mike Hernandez.

It was the first time in prep football history McDonogh beat Warren Easton.

Trojan coach Earl Hubley served as the Easton head football coach for eight years before taking over as McDonogh mentor this fall.

Lutcher Rolls

PONCHATOULA, La. (AP) — Lutcher won its ninth straight game and clinched at least a tie for the 7-AA football crown Friday night by smashing Ponchatoula 33-6.

David Richard scored two touchdowns to pace the second-ranked Bulldogs.

Tech Homecoming Brings In Surging Southeastern

By STUART HILL
World Sports Writer

RUSTON — Louisiana Tech, once most feared in the Gulf States Conference, battles for its conference face here today in a Homecoming scrap with potent Southeastern.

Tech's Bulldogs sport a 0-7 record, a mark that throws old grads into a quandary, if only to figure how it happened.

It's the third league outing for the Bulldogs, who have dropped decisions to McNeese, 10-7 in their first and only other home game, and to Southwestern, 21-12.

Southeastern, 3-3, dropped its first three to Southern Mississippi (a 14-0 winner over Tech), Southwestern, and Trinity, Tex. University before rebounding to win against Louisiana College.

Northeast State in a squeaker, 14-13 and Pensacola Navy last week in a 52-33 free-for-all.

If Homecoming wasn't enough for the winless Bulldogs, added incentive comes with the fact that the game will be the last played in the old Tech Stadium. Plans call for the replacement of the 31-year-old stadium with an entirely new athletic complex.

The Canines have lost only five homecoming games in the past 20 years. SLC last defeated the Bulldogs in Ruston in 1954.

Southeastern, with its present 1-0 record in the conference, closes with a flurry of GSC competitors, meeting McNeese and Northwestern after this afternoon's scrap.

Tech meets Southland Conference power Lamar Tech before closing against Northeast.

Tech is expected to be at full strength for the first time this season. Ed Walker and Maurice Greer, two standout athletes who have missed most of the campaign, are ticketed for duty again.

Southeastern will be hampered by the loss of starting center Ira Gene Causey and David Davidson. Offensive tackle Russell Ivestine is also a doubtful performer and Ralph Daigle, Johnny O'Neal and Gary Ogeron are expected to be hampered by injuries.

Southeastern, with a highly prolific offensive attack against the Goshawks, vaulted quarterback Bobby Cotton from 10th to first in the GSC total offense statistics which could indicate that a passing game is brewing between the Bulldogs and Lions.

Tech has found its passing game to be the only virtue of the season, with the exception of some outstanding running through difficult territory by Eddie Taylor.

Phil Robertson and Terry Bradshaw are expected to lead the Tech passing game. Robertson was the GSC offensive leader before Cotton came on with his blitz and Bradshaw was a standout for the Bulldogs in last week's 21-9 loss to Tennessee Tech.

Although occasionally breaking down due to over-exposure, the Tech defense is considered highly capable — with the talents of ends Speedy Campbell and Ronnie Brown and linebackers Bob McKinnon and Joe Raymond Peace — and could spell a difference since it has been exposed to the passing attacks of several other aerial minded elevens.

Tom Croft, a doubtful starter. Randy Mason, Jim Stringer and Alden Reeves perform in the Tech defensive secondary.

SLC's offense has been averaging 283.7 yards per game while the Tech offense has given up 303 stripes each game.

Florida, Georgia To Meet In Key SEC Go

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Georgia and Florida, title-hungry contenders who weren't expected to be in the running, battle Saturday for a probable share of the Southeastern Conference championship.

Florida has never won the crown, Georgia's hasn't claimed it since 1959, and neither were ranked among the preseason challengers.

However, both take 4-0 records into their duel in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, and the winner is expected to clear its only other hurdle and join Alabama in the champion's circle.

The Crimson Tide doesn't have a share of the title locked up, but Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's youngsters could virtually nail down at least a co-championship by knocking off Louisiana State today.

Auburn goes against Mississippi State at Jackson, Miss., and Vanderbilt travels to Kentucky in other league games. Tennessee entertains little Chattanooga, and Mississippi is taking a week off to prepare for its battle with the Volunteers next week.

Top game among independents in the Southeast sends mighty Miami to Tulane, with unbeaten Georgia Tech entertaining Virginia. Florida State plays at South Carolina and VMI is at Southern Mississippi.

Alabama, which meets only Auburn in league play after the challenge by Louisiana State, will be operating under the direction of a new quarterback and with its best halfback on suspension.

Wayne Trimble won the quarterback's job over Kenny Stabler when he rescued Alabama a week ago, and Ed Morgan has been moved up at halfback to replace Les Kelley, disciplined when he missed curfew.

Louisiana State hopes to make some changes, too—but not in personnel. The Tigers plan to hang onto the ball this week, after fumbling five times in a 17-0 whipping by Ole Miss a week ago.

The Tigers' collision with unbeaten and fourth-ranked Alabama is a sellout at Legion Field in Birmingham, and is also being regionally televised.

Tickers are even more in demand at Jacksonville, where thousands of unhappy Florida and Georgia fans would like to find a way to watch the game.

Georgia has only a one-point loss to Miami marring its seven-game record, and Florida hasn't lost this fall.

Steve Spurrier will lead the Gators, and Georgia is well aware of the senior quarterback's passing ability. He threw two passes for 78 yards in the final minutes a year ago to bring Florida from behind and give the Gators a 14-10 victory.

"Georgia's hopes of stopping Spurrier were hit Thursday, however, when Coach Vince Dooley said sophomore tackle Bill Stanfill probably would not be able to play because of a neck injury.

Stanfill had teamed with All-America Georgia Patton to give the Bulldogs two of the best defensive tackles in the league

"I will use my long experience in the construction field to save tax money on all new construction and repairs."

Your Responsibility Is To Stay Out Of Grandma's Way

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is my second marriage. I was a divorcee with four small children, but this time I got the best man who ever walked in shoe leather. I am 22 and my husband is 21, and his mother doesn't like me. She says her son isn't ready for so much responsibility. She told me to my face that she doesn't like small children, especially mine because they are not HER grandchildren.

She said if I ever had her son's children THEY will be her grandchildren. And she doesn't want my kids calling her "grandma." I don't want to come between her husband and his mother, but I don't want my children hurt either. What should I do?

NEW IN THE FAMILY DEAR NEW: Stay out of her way. And do your children a favor and keep THEM out of her way, too. If you don't want to come between your husband and his mother, don't expect him to run interference for you.

A 22-year-old divorcee with four small children is lucky to get the "best man who ever walked in shoe leather." But you can't have everything. And your handicap is a mother-in-law who sounds like she could hunt bear with a switch.

DEAR ABBY: Married women are expected to wear wedding rings. I think all married men should wear something to indicate that THEY are married.

WILMA DEAR WILMA: Isn't a five-year-old suit and a work shirt a prescription for a doctor to call us for PRESCRIPTIONS?

DEAR ABBY: I have a close friend who has a 19-year-old daughter who is sweet, wholesome and respectful. She has always entertained her friends at home and has abided by her parents' wishes. But the problem Abby is, no matter which boy the girl brings home, her father ignores him completely. In fact, he ignored them so completely, they all feel unwelcome in the home.

DEAR FRIEND: What father says and how father feels may be two different things. Some fathers don't "trust" any male who shows an interest in their daughters. Others are simply ill-at-ease with a young man of another generation.

Ask your friend to get her husband to talk about his feelings with regard to his daughter and her boy friends. Sometimes the truth reveals itself when the problem is discussed openly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. K: A lady should never tell an off color joke. The laugh she gets is temporary — and doesn't compensate for the loss of dignity — which is permanent.

Hints From Heloise

Beauty Is To Be Seen Not Hidden From Sight

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I must tell you the different ways I use my beautiful punch bowl ALL YEAR ROUND.

In the spring, we have it on our coffee table with bright artificial red grapes or cherries heaped in and falling over its edge.

In the summer, we have gay sherbert and ginger ale punch parties for thirsty children on hot nights; or fill it with assorted summer fruits in season and watermelon balls for a colorful and tasty dessert after a backyard barbecue.

In the fall, I heap it with small pumpkins, berries, nuts and assorted colored gourds for a centerpiece in front of our fireplace.

Best of all, is Christmas season when we bring out our favorite red and gold Christmas balls and fill the bowl. On Christmas Eve we take each ball from the bowl to hang on the tree. . . then wash the bowl and fill with eggnog to toast the season.

Gloomy and January and February brings warmth from the bowl with warm cocoa and marshmallows served from it to freezing little Cub Scouts or Brownies.

So you see, I wouldn't be without my precious punch bowl. It has become part of the family and much too beautiful to hide away.

Joan Horden.

Dear Joan: Beautiful things are to be seen, appreciated, and enjoyed.

ed. Why buy lovely items for the home and hide them away where they can't be seen?

There is no one more deserving to enjoy beautiful things than our own families.

I think the year-round use of your punch bowl is wonderful and I know that your family and friends enjoy it.

Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise: I found a good use for bath towels that have become frayed at the edges.

On rainy days, I lay one over our door mat and fold under the ends to fit the mat. This not only does a better job than the mat alone, but is safer than the cotton rug I once used.

Mrs. G. B. G.

Dear Heloise: For those who have the same problem I have — struggling to get the tops off cottage cheese cartons — here is the answer.

Have you ever thought of using the bottle opener end of your can opener? This is very handy. You merely open it like a bottle.

I am a 12-year-old who loves cottage cheese, and it really works.

Joy Hartnett

Dear Heloise: How often I have struggled to clean stuck flour from my corrugated meat pounder — until tonight.

YOUR nylon net swished off the goo so quickly.

Pulitzer Prize Play Has Broad Interest

By TRAVIS MAYO
World Staff Critic

The human race seems worth preserving after all.

If ordinary people like those who populate three-time Pulitzer Prize-winning author Thornton Wilder's play "Our Town" can rise to heroic levels, then maybe there is hope for us, although the intervening 66 years have brought an awful lot of thoughts and have made Simon
Stimson's bitter denouncement from the grave too uncomfortably true.

The 1938 Pulitzer Prize-winning play opens tonight at the

"OUR TOWN"
STRAUSS PLAYHOUSE: "Our Town," stage drama in three acts by Thornton
Wilder, produced by special arrangement with Samuel French Inc. of New York. Presented locally on Nov. 4, 5, 6 and 12 by the Children's Theatre of Monroe. Directed by Murray Burford, assisted by Caille Cooper and Kathy Nelson. Technical director: Stan Covey.
Stage managers: Kathy Ellington and Kathy Nelson; lighting by Sunny Meriwether and Edward Eldridge and sound
by Robert Wing and Mary Ann Atkinson. The Cast:
Narrator..... Sylvester Breard
Dr. Gibbs..... David Barnes
Mrs. Gibbs..... Donna MacDowell
George Gibbs..... Chuck Abbott

Rebecca Gibbs..... Charlotte Meriwether

Strauss Playhouse and also will be staged Sunday and Nov. 12.
Friday's preview audience included Monroe Mayor W. L.
Howard and other city officials,
along with their children.

Primarily, the cast, crew and ushers are teen-agers. This fact, however, rather than being a detrimant, proves to be agreeable to adult viewer by adding youthful sincerity to a moving plot.

Director Murray Burford shows keen insight in presenting this magnificent play as a Children's Theatre production because its emotional depths are both a challenge to young minds and a reward to adult ones.

Although the play is set in 1900, it is ever young because the characters, who address the audience directly, stress the similarities between the events in the play and the spectator's own experiences.

Lack of scenery helps keep the action from seeming limited to one small New Hampshire town. Grover's Corners becomes any town, at any time and place.

Comprising the cast of 19 are actors portraying two families—

those of editor and publisher
Charles Webb and Dr. Frank Gibbs.

Chuck Fuller as the milkman proves his ability at pantomime and John Nichols as the paper-boy portrays a brief role with skill. Ron Robinson took time out from the play at the college to make an arresting performance as the college professor.

"Our Town" traces three stages in the lives of a young couple, portrayed by Chuck Abbott as George Gibbs and Linda Thompson as Emily Webb. They offer heartwarming portrayals.
Miss Thompson, who alternates with Kerry Murphy in the romantic female lead, transports
the audience into the young world of a teen-agers in love.
She makes the spectator feel the mixed emotion when she stares "The moonlight, so . . .
terrible."

Abbott has such a polished delivery that he can permit himself to concentrate on the little things—the facial expressions and side glances that greatly improve the characterization.

As the editor, Bob Ferguson shows that he possesses the natural casualness necessary to make the role live. David Barnes as Dr. Gibbs brings to the role as well trained voice,
good stage mannerisms and sincerity.

Donna MacDowell as Julia Gibbs takes pains with even seemingly insignificant things.
It takes skill on her part to remember she is portraying a turn-of-the-century role.

Kathleen Newcomer as Myrtle Webb offers moments of high drama as the mother who loses a daughter first to marriage and then to death.

The most demanding role—the essential character who sets moods, fills in a wealth of background facts and brings the audience to "Come on in and have a seat" to the final moment when he bids them goodnight, Breard has the audience
under his spell.

It is an emotional, enriching spell. Suggest you sit on the back row so you can sniffle
without being conspicuous.

Arrangements that reflect your good taste.

Personal Attack

Nixon Says LBJ Breaks Agreement

MANCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon charged Friday that President Johnson had broken the "bi partisan line" on Viet Nam "with a personal, partisan assault and by refusing to answer the questions I asked him about this war."

It was those questions which touched off comments by President Johnson at a televised news conference, and which made Nixon's queries an issue during the closing days of the congressional election campaign.

Despite what he called "this shocking display of temper" by the President, Nixon said, "My policy will continue to be to give him that all-out support which his own party has not done — for his goal of no reward for aggression in Viet Nam."

But Nixon told newsmen at a series of news conferences here, aboard his chartered plane and in Waterville, Maine, that "despite the presidential temper, I will continue to speak out."

Nixon again called on Johnson to answer his seven questions about Viet Nam — before Election Day — and especially these three:

1. Will we resign ourselves to a five-year war or will we increase our military pressure to a level which will bring victory as Nixon said former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had urged?

2. Will we escalate the number of ground troops or will we adopt the Republican policy of increased use of American sea and air power to bring the Communists to the conference table?

3. Will we pay the increased cost of the war by raising taxes or follow the Republican way of cutting nonmilitary expenditures?

Nixon repeated his assertion that the mutual withdrawal of Communist and allied troops from South Viet Nam, as proposed in the communique issued after the Manila conference, would, as worded, virtually turn that country over to the Viet Cong.

He called on the President to clarify it saying, "I'm not trying to be a carping critic; I just don't want this sort of an impression to remain in the minds of our enemies or of our friends."

A reporter commented that the President also said Nixon wasn't very well-informed on Viet Nam.

"If I'm not informed," Nixon snapped, "than millions of Americans are uninformed. That's been the problem all along."

Does the levee belong to the owners of the land that is adjacent to the levee, or is it public property? May the owners of land adjacent to the levee prevent hunting and fishing on the levees, or does the levee board have this authority?

A recent ruling by John R. Hunter Jr., assistant attorney general for the State of Louisiana, stated that the levee district acquires only a servitude when it takes property for levee purposes and the landowner retains title to the land upon which the levee rests and to the borrow pits along the levee. This is based on the civil code of the state. Therefore, Hunter said, if the land on which the bar pits are situated is private land the permission of the property owners must be obtained. If the land is state land, it may be fished by obtaining a license from the state. The levee board may forbid hunting on the levees if it feels such action may hurt the levee.

Is the payment of dues from the Sheriff's Salary Fund permissible expenditure?

State Attorney General Jack P. F. Gremillion last month ruled that payment such dues is a permissible expenditure of monies from the salary fund. He based his ruling on Revised Statutes which read in part that "a sheriff or ex-officio tax collector shall pay from the sheriff's salary fund... all expenses authorized by law which are incurred in the performance of his duties including clerical expenses, salary of the sheriff and of all deputies... and membership dues..." The purposes for which the organizations were organized was, Gremillion listed, (1) to promote and foster mutual cooperation, discussion and interest in the problems concerning forgery and worthless checks; (2) to provide a media for the exchange of ideas; (3) to conduct seminars, conferences and research into educational methods for better law enforcement; (4) to devise ways and means of improving national, state, municipal and public alertness, also police methods, laws and the administration of justice; and (5) to organize study groups, publications and other lawful means appropriate for the attainment of these purposes.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. 11-5

Many Students Aren't Happy With Educational System

By NANCY GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth Research, Inc.

A surprising number of students in the best educated country in the world are dissatisfied with the manner in which they are being educated.

Our recent nationwide survey of 1379 of them uncovered a number of reasons for their dissatisfaction, with some suggestions about what should be done to improve the situation. However, it should be noted that the dissatisfied are in the minority, since 72 per cent of those questioned said they were satisfied with the educational system as it affects them. The boys were a little less enchanted with the system than the girls. In all, a quarter of the young people expressed dissatisfaction.

The discontented teen-agers were asked what they saw as the chief problems. Here are some of the answers:

"We are treated as children, not maturing men and women," — Beeki Roberts, 17, Beaver Falls, Pa.

"Most courses aren't interesting" — Merry Banker, 17, Bellaire, Tex.

"The school does not really meet the needs of the individual. Everyone is expected to do the same thing," — Marion Black, 18, Englewood, Colo.

"The wrong teachers teach the wrong courses," — Susan Patrick, 17, Tacoma, Wash.

"We are taught how to pass tests, not how to learn" — Kenneth Slavin, 14, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Teachers don't seem to know anything well enough" — Stan

Lipton, 13, Great Neck, N. Y. "Classes are too large" — Robert Doss, 16, Houston, Tex. In what way do the teen-agers think their schooling could be improved? Some of the replies:

"But not putting so much emphasis on marks and by making learning more interesting" — Lana Michaels, 17, Geneva, N. Y.

"Arranging education procedures so that they parallel students' chosen fields" — Patricia Alkire, 18, Houston, Tex.

"Add more recreational facilities" — Chuck Russell, 19, Athens, Ohio.

"Eliminate grading on the basis of age and do it on the basis of achievements" — Stan Barag, 17, Cherry Hill, N. J. "Greater experimental training in honors courses in the area of self-teaching" — Stanley Nessing Jr., 16, Meriden, Conn. "There's too much homework. If I had more time to relax and collect my thoughts, I could do much better." — Marlene Timka, 15, Beaver Falls, Pa.

One student thought his schooling could be improved — but not by educational authorities. His solution was simple. Said 19-year old Jim Rommel, of Portland, Ore.:

"My schooling could be improved through more effort on my part."

Nothing Namby-Pamby About Fall Neckware

Gilbert Youth Service

There's nothing namby-pamby this year about the fall collection of neckwear for teen-age boys.

Ties are brilliant with floral clusters in bold colors like pink and marigold, are studded with medallion prints in Far East color combinations, and are striped with wider and stronger colors.

Says Ned Brower, tie designer and manufacturer, "High school boys are breaking loose with these ties because we are finally allowing teen-agers to have clothing they enjoy wearing, which is far different than those styles being worn by adults."

One of Brower's newest designs is the Drapal style, to be worn with a buttoned jacket or with a vest. The tie tapers from two-and-a-half inches below the knot to a width of three-and-a-half inches at the bottom.

In most lines, taners are more extreme than they were last year. Most popular fabrics for neckwear are pure silk and wool challis, with cotton challis still supreme in the Mod field. There's also a wash-and-wear tie called Truvira.

LBJ Sees Soviets As For Viet Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said Friday he had every reason to believe the leaders of the Soviet Union "would like to see the fighting" in Viet Nam "stopped as much as we would like to see it stopped."

In a search for peace, Johnson disclosed at a news conference, he is sending Secretary of State Dean Rusk to the Far East again next month. Rusk accompanied the President to the Manila conference of the nations with forces in Viet Nam. They returned Wednesday.

Johnson gave no encouragement, however, to any suggestions for a pause in the U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam unless "we... see what they are willing to stop."

"We will be glad to consider anyone's proposals that represent two-way streets," Johnson said. "We don't want to talk about just half of it, though."

A questioner recalled that the President had said at a news conference Oct. 13 that only two nations — North Viet Nam and Communist China, obviously — wanted to continue the war. Did that mean, he asked, that Johnson had some positive indication that Moscow would like to see an end to the fighting?

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., proposed in a statement Friday night another cessation of the bombing of North Viet Nam.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a persistent critic of Johnson's Viet Nam policy, said in a statement that he had a lengthy discussion with the President on Thursday and is convinced of the sincerity of Johnson's desire to end the war.

Fulbright acknowledged that a weeks-long interruption of bombing early this year accomplished nothing but said the situation has changed since then and continued: "I believe, in view of the changes, it would be wise to consider again, after proper preparations, to have another cessation of bombing, accompanied by a restatement of our purposes."

Meanwhile, it was disclosed at San Antonio, after Johnson flew to his Texas ranch — that the President reported to congressional leaders on his 17-day Far Eastern mission and assured them that U.S. forces in Viet Nam are "buying time" so the peoples of Asia eventually can build their own future.

Johnson, in conversations summarized by a White House spokesman, told Democratic and Republican leaders that Asian allies understand this and "are ready to stand up and be counted."

Johnson told the congressional chiefs also that the top men of South Viet Nam — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and Chief of State Nguyen van Thieu — agreed at Manila that a new chief of government will be elected in that war-ravaged land six months after a still-to-be-shielded constitution is put into effect.

A questioner at the news conference recalled that the President had said at another news conference Oct. 13 that only two nations — North Viet Nam and Communist China, obviously — wanted to continue the war. Did that mean, he asked, that Johnson had some positive indication that Moscow would like to see an end to the fighting?

"Yes," Johnson replied, "I believe most of the nations of the world would like to see the fighting stopped. I just can't conceive of any nation enjoying what is going on."

"We seek peace. We search for Peace. We are willing to do anything we can to get peace except surrender. We are not asking any unconditional surrender on the part of the adversary. We are just saying to them, 'come in the room and let's reason together. Let's talk out our difficulties.'"

"I refuse to do that."

Asked whether he could be more specific about the Soviet position, Johnson replied: "I said I thought every nation, except our adversaries, would like to see the fighting stopped. 'I am not a spokesman for the Soviet Union. I cannot speak for Mr. Brezhnev, Mr. Kosygin, or Mr. Gromyko, but I have every reason to believe that they would like to see the fighting stopped as much as we would like to see it stopped.'"

Johnson didn't say on either occasion what had led him to believe that the Russians wanted to see an end to the war, but the Oct. 13 session with newsmen followed by only three days a two-hour talk he had with Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in New York. Johnson said then he regarded their conference as helpful and fruitful.

"Perhaps the North Vietnamese would like to see it stopped," Johnson said Friday, "but our communication is bad, and at least up to this time we have been unable to convince them that the way to stop it is to come to the conference room."

United Gas Seeks Okay On Finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — United Gas Corp. of Shreveport, La. is seeking approval of a $16.5 million financing arrangement with two of its subsidiaries, the Securities and Exchange Commission said Friday.

United Gas, itself a subsidiary of Pennzoil Co., proposes to buy up to $15 million in 1968 notes from the Duval Corp. to finance, in part, the development of the Battle Mountain copper-gold-silver property in Nevada and potash property in Saskatchewan, Canada.

The firm also proposes to buy from United Overseas Production Corp. up to 1,500 shares of common stock for $1,000 per share to finance gas and oil exploration and for other corporate uses.

The commission fixed Nov. 22 as the deadline to request a hearing on the proposal.

Leading Demos Unplan LBJ Campaign Visits

NEW YORK (AP) — Leading Democrats from coast to coast busied themselves unplaning plans for unplaned campaign visits by President Johnson.

Really caught short was Boston's police commissioner, Edward L. McNamara, who had 1,700 uniformed men standing by to protect the President on an unplaned appearance planned for Friday.

Places fell as far south as Memphis, as far north as Chicago and as far west as Los Angeles.

The President was asked at his news conference Friday whether his campaigning plans were off.

"First, we don't have any plans so when you don't have plans you don't cancel plans," he said. "The people of this country ought to know that all these canceled plans primarily involve the imagination of people who phrase sentences and write columns, and have to report what the hope or what they imagine."

Hopers and imaginers in Chicago had included Mayor Richard J. Daley, leader of the city Democratic machine, who had arranged for the President to address a party rally Friday afternoon. Also taken by surprise were Chicago television stations which had planned to film the unplaned event for evening telecasts.

Among the planners of the unplaned plans, said an aide to a Utah congressman, were "a dozen Secret Service men we had here in Salt Lake City and three advance men from the White House. The White House assured us the President had Salt Lake on his tentative schedule for Saturday."

On to Albuquerque, where the President had been due for an unplaned visit on Sunday. There Sen. Clinton P. Anderson had announced two days ago:

"We are proceeding on the basis that the President will be here. There is a good chance he will spend the night here."

On to Los Angeles, where a press aide to Gov. Edmund G. Brown had told newsmen plans for an LBJ visit on Monday were being made "under the cloak of the White House secrecy which is routine whenever there is a visit of the President."

Also unplaning on the west coast were Democrats of Oregon. There, Rep. Robert Duncan's press secretary said the party faithful had been advised from the White House: "You should proceed on the assumption he will be coming Saturday afternoon."

In Phoenix, Ariz., a Democratic state official said he had been making arrangements for an unplaned presidential visit to the State Fair on Saturday but had made no advance announcement of any such plan.

"You know how Johnson likes to announce these things himself," the official explained.

In Memphis, aides of Rep. George Grider had passed the word that the President would appear there on Monday. Unplaning there had advanced to the point where communications workers were setting up extra telephones at the airport for use by newsmen.

In Montana, Sens. Mike Mansfield and Lee Metcalf had announced that LBJ would make a weekend trip to dedicate the state's new Yellowstone Dam. At nearby Billings, the Great Northern Hotel had made tentative reservations for a presidential party of 125.

On, on to Texas, where there had been unplaned plans for a presidential appearance at a number of party rallies in San Antonio on Monday night.

Police Car Was Just Misplaced

Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr. said Friday that an unmarked police car, which had been reported stolen Friday morning, had not been stolen after all. It had merely been "ah... misplaced."

Just how one misplaces a department police car, a 1966 white Chevrolet, approximately weight slightly over one ton, Kelly was quick to explain.

A Monroe detective, driver of the lost and now found vehicle who name, in a matter of good taste, will not be reported here, but whose fellow workers lie in wait for his return to pounce and no doubt administer an unmerciful ribbing, misplaced the vehicle, Thursday afternoon, Kelly said.

The detective stopped to aid a uniformed officer who had arrested a motorist for driving while intoxicated and parked his car at the scene, 14th and Adams St. He then drove the suspect's car to the station while the other officer took the man to the police station in the other squad car, a half-grinning Kelly related.

He then became involved at the station with an office function which was being conducted for a retiring employee and apparently forgot about the car he had left behind.

The car, however was not missed until the next morning, when someone picked up the keys and walked out to attempt to drive an empty stall where the car was normally parked.

The absent-minded car loser meanwhile had taken off for another city early Friday morning and neglected to inform the department of the whereabouts of the car.

Kelly humorously said there were no plans for the institution of a Car 54 Patrol at the department.

Cold Leaves Citrus Crop Undamaged

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Record-setting temperatures dipping into the 20's stung sections of Florida Friday but damage to the state's big citrus and truck crops was expected to be minimal and weathermen predicted a slow warmup.

The mercury skidded to 29 at Tallahassee and Gainesville Friday and set a double-record low for Miami.

A 50-degree reading at Miami International Airport at 6 a.m. was the lowest temperature on record on Nov. 4 as well as the lowest for this early in the winter season.

Weathermen had a word of encouragement however — "a slow warming trend" was setting in.

Although there was frost in the state Friday, citrus and truck crops suffered little harm because of the briefness of the cold snap, officials said.

Other record lows Friday were a 31 at Jacksonville, Tampa 26, Fort Myers 42, and Key West 57.

Sheppard Tells About 'Lovers'

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The prosecution offered in evidence Friday a 12-year-old statement by Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard that his murdered wife had at least three potential lovers.

Veteran homicide detective Robert F. Schottke took the statement from Dr. Sheppard on July 10, 1954, six days after Marilyn Sheppard was murdered. In it, Sheppard was asked if he knew any reason someone would kill his wife.

Dr. Sheppard had replied "possibly" and when asked to state the possibility he had replied that he heard of persons "who are maniacal enough" that when they start "an art like that, it becomes a compulsion."

The statement quoted Sheppard as saying:

"She has spurned lovers, potential lovers . . . three that I know of and I am pretty sure more. I am certain that there were more."

Cleveland police said in 1954 they had "checked out" those three and found no evidence to incriminate them.

Chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey asked for time to read the statement, and the mid-morning recess was called 10 minutes early.

One hour and 35 minutes later, Judge Francis J. Tally called the jurors back and told them he had spent the time in consultation on a legal issue. Presumably it was an issue raised by the defense in regard to the admissibility of the statement.

Schottke, a policeman for 24 years, testified that after six hours of intensive investigation he had told Dr. Sheppard that he believed Sheppard had bludgeoned his wife to death.

Schottke said he had gone to Sheppard's hospital room on the murder day and confronted the doctor with several bits of circumstantial evidence.

"The evidence points very strongly toward you," Schottke said. "In my opinion you are the one that killed your wife."

Bailey objected strongly to the testimony, but he was overruled.

"At that time," Schottke said, "he stated: 'Do not be ridiculous. I have devoted my life to saving the lives of people, and I love my wife.' Sheppard is charged with second degree murder. His 1954 conviction and life sentence were set aside last June by the U.S. Supreme Court."

Yule Decorating Beginning Here

It's beginning to look like Christmas in downtown Monroe. City crews Friday were nearing the end of the first phase of the annual seasonal decorating, and utility poles were growing angels.

The next step, as the Monroe Chamber of Commerce and city shoot for activation of lighting on the evening of the day before Thanksgiving, is the installation of pole ornaments at local shopping centers.

Zambia Whites Quit

LUSAKA, Zambia, (AP) — The number of whites who quit the Zambian copper mines this week rose to 139 Thursday, a mines company spokesman reported. Their departures were attributed to the race riots of last Sunday at Kitwe, where several whites were injured and one white woman was stoned to death; and to the deportation of 23 whites last week.

Uniform Dislike

SANTA FE, Argentina, (AP) — Lawyers employed as counsel in the police department here are rebelling against an order of the chief requiring all police personnel to wear uniforms. They contend uniforms would detract from their professional status.

Have you an old favorite recipe calling for soured milk? Substitute the same amount of buttermilk and you'll find it works equally as well.

Race Issue, Undecideds Heat Up California Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Intense debate over the racial issue and a fierce battle for the undecided vote are heating up the final days of the contest for the governorship of California.

Republican Ronald Reagan, the handsome actor with the boyish smile, is leading Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in the polls, but the most respected pollsters agree there are enough undecided voters to tip the election to Brown. The Mervyn Field Poll, an independent statewide sampling sold to newspapers and television stations, reported Friday that Reagan held a lead of five percentage points — 46 per cent of the total vote to 41 for Brown, with 13 per cent undecided.

Both Reagan and Brown interpreted the poll favorably. "We're moving up," said Brown, noting that he had gained two per cent since the last Field poll, on Oct. 10, while Reagan had held steady. "It's a horse race,"

Reagan said he was "pleased," but added, "I'm by no means overconfident."

California has 8.3 million registered voters, of which Secretary of State France Jordan forecasts a turnout of 6.2 million.

Democratic hopes for week-end help from President John- son were wrecked when the President canceled all trips to rest for forthcoming surgery.

Brown said the President's decision would not affect the campaign. Reagan merely said, "I'm sorry to hear he has to have surgery and I wish it wasn't so."

Reagan, 55, buoyed by turnouts of several thousand Thursday in San Francisco, Brown's home town, hopes to succeed where former U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon failed.

Knowland lost to Brown in 1958 and Nixon was beaten four years later. Brown, 61, seeks to become the state's first three-term Democratic governor. Chief Justice Earl Warren, a Republican, held the post for three terms.

Brown has taken dead aim at the uncommitted vote with a discussion of the racial issue.

Uncollected Coins

OTTAWA, (AP) — The Canadian mint announced it will accept orders for uncollected 1966 coins up to Dec. 15 to accommodate collectors. The original deadline was Oct. 31. A mint-condition set of 6 coins from 1 cent to $1 costs $4.
